A TRANSLUCENT NEXT-BEST

Designer Reveals Glass Bra

WESTPORT, Conn. (AP) — For ladies who draw the line at the current see-through fashions, designer Roslyn Raun has a translucent next-best: a stained-glass bra.

A stained glass bra? Right! And why not? The nude look is here. The transparent look is here. And breastplates ranging from simple chain mail to ornate metal designs are here. The "Tiffany bra," as Roslyn calls it, is made of stained glass pieces fused together by very soft, malleable metal.

The Westport designer's creation recently made its way into the window of Bonwit Teller's in New York. Viennese-born Roslyn works in a studio in her home, where she's been designing art objects for something over five years, working primarily in stained glass. She has sold her work to the Washington Cathedral, Washington, D.C., the American House of New York City, a gallery that features contemporary art objects for the home and to bookshops and a number of other churches.

Her own version of the Tiffany lampshade, which she sells fully electrified, is one of Roslyn's pets. She also designs screens, mobiles, Christmas ornaments and the like.

The lightweight bra is held on by a flexible chain around the neck. Ladies who have worn it describe it as comfortable.

COUNTY SEWER PLAN

Engineer Richard Norton explains map of the county sewer plan to a small audience at a meeting Thursday night in the Warren County Court House. The meeting was called to familiarize officials of townships and boroughs in the county with the recently completed plan. (Photo by Mahan)

Little Interest Shown In County Sewer Plan

A pathetically small audience was on hand Thursday evening for an explanatory meeting on the county sewer plan.

The meeting intended to include representatives from all the county's townships and boroughs in a discussion of a study that cost several thousand dollars to produce on a subject of concern to everyone, drew representatives only from Conewango, Glade, Columbus and Pine Grove twps. and Clarendon Borough.

Engineer Richard E. Norton of Neathery-Norton Associates who drew up the plan, explained the proposed breakdown of the county into sewage treatment units, stressing the comprehensive aspect of the plan in assuring that investments in sewage in the county over the next 20 to 25 years fit into some orderly integrated system for large areas of the county.

Norton advocated the formation of a single county sewage authority saying that implementation would be more economical in the long run and there would be a better chance of getting state or federal funds for projects.

He emphasized the need where feasible to install collector and interceptor sewer lines to broaden the service area and spread the base for amortizing the cost.

Also attending the meeting and answering questions were Rom Brumagin of the state department of health and county planning director William Rusin.

The next step will be preparation of the plan in a final form and presentation to municipalities for approval, Brumagin said.

Knowles Affair Threatens Public Rupture in Cabinet

WASHINGTON (AP) — While the lingering affair of Dr. John H. Knowles appeared to be threatening a public rupture in the Cabinet, Secretary of Welfare Robert H. Finch declared Thursday "I have no intention of leaving the administration."

Finch, a longtime personal friend and political ally of President Nixon, issued this statement late in the day after spending several hours closeted at the White House.

At stake is the question of whether Finch will insist that the 43-year-old Knowles be nominated to become his department's health-affairs chief in the face of opposition from the American Medical Association and the Senate Republican leader, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois. Knowles now is director of Massachusetts General Hospital at Boston.

A Finch aide said late Thursday Finch would have a definite statement Friday on the appointment to the key post which has been vacant nearly six months.

But at about the same time Nixon's press secretary, Ronald L. Ziegler told newsmen that while he expects an announcement on the appointment this week it definitely will not come before the President leaves Friday for a ceremony at the St. Lawrence Seaway.

The press secretary said Finch conferred with Nixon Thursday for about 45 minutes on what he called the "Knowles matter" but asserted that several names were discussed for the job and there has been no final decision. He reaffirmed that Nixon will accept Finch's final recommendation.

Ziegler told reporters also that Finch categorically denies a published report that he will quit the Cabinet if rebuffed on Knowles.

A statement issued at the Department of Health Education and Welfare over Finch's name said: "I have no intention of leaving the administration. I regard my post as secretary . . . as a four-year commitment."

Cancelling engagements, Finch went to the White House in mid-morning and remained there until late afternoon.

Tom Foley, a reporter for the Los Angeles Times, quoted Finch as telling him early Thursday that Nixon "will have to find another secretary" if he backs down on Knowles.

Foley, a longtime friend of the former California lieutenant governor, apparently was the only person to reach Finch personally except for aides who remained tight-mouthed.

There were other reports—none confirmed—that the off-again-on-again nomination was being bartered in a frantic administration search for enough votes to extend the income surtax.

Other reports had it that Knowles was the subject of a trade involving the possible lifting of school desegregation guidelines that call for the erasing of all racial bias in schools by this fall.

Amid all this turmoil there arose in the Senate an expecta-

Harrisburg is Under Dusk-to-Dawn Curfew

HARRISBURG (AP) — Stores closed Thursday before an 8 p.m. curfew on what is normally the busiest night of the week in this racially troubled city, leaving the streets deserted.

A small fire broke out in a house, but quickly burned itself out. A brick was thrown at an official investigating the fire, but no one was arrested.

Black leaders sought $1 million in local contributions toward "self-help for Negroes."

Meanwhile, the Dauphin County coroner said an inquest would be held into Tuesday's fatal shooting of an 18-year-old Negro by a white policeman as soon as State Police complete their investigation.

Dr. Thomas A. Fritchey, the coroner, made public the autopsy report on the body of Charles Scott which indicated that Scott was struck from the rear by eight extra-heavy shotgun pellets.

"The two that struck him in the lungs on the left side were what killed him," Fritchey said, adding that pellets struck Scott in the skull, back, buttocks and leg.

Harrisburg, under its first full night of dusk-to-dawn curfew Wednesday experienced general calm. The streets were deserted.

However, most stores normally are open on Thursday nights. The Harrisburg Area Chamber of Commerce, which asked members to close their stores by 5:30 p. m. as on other business days, said it had met little opposition to the suggestion.

Richard James of the Black Coalition presented to Mayor Albert H. Straub a list of grievances and demands that included:

— "The prosecution of the individual policemen responsible for these hostile acts,

— "Immediate removal of all occupational forces from our community, — "Immediate release of all political prisoners now being held,

— "Immediate meeting with the governor, mayor and other officials to correct the oppressive conditions that have been imposed on the black community of Harrisburg."

Acting Police Chief Martin Watts has identified Raymond Kertulis, an 11-year veteran of the force, as the officer who did the shooting.

Kertulis has been transferred to other duties in the department pending completion of an investigation, Watts said.

VC Chief Calls Nixon's Peace Hopes 'Illusions'

PARIS (AP) — The Viet Cong's chief negotiator at the Paris peace talks Thursday called "sheer illusions" President Nixon's hopes to bolster the Saigon government and de-Americanize the Vietnam war.

Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh, representative of the Viet Cong's provisional revolutionary government, told the 23rd full-scale session of the talks that Nixon was following a dead-end road that could only lead to "still heavier defeats."

She was joined in the attack by her colleague from North Vietnam, Ha Van Lau. He said Nixon's announcements on troop withdrawal possibilities was "a comedy played out to appease and deceive world and American opinion, which are vigorously condemning him."

A U.S. spokesman described the five-hour session as grim. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge told newsmen he "could discern no willingness to negotiate" despite his repeated appeals. Asked whether the other side seemed to feel time was on its side, Lodge replied: "I think they ought not to be sure about that."

In the meeting, Lodge accused the Hanoi and Viet Cong representative of distorting the meaning of U.S. words and actions, particularly on the decision to withdraw 25,000 U.S. troops from South Vietnam. He also denounced their demands for the overthrow of President Nguyen Van Thieu as a condition to negotiations on a political settlement.

This, said Lodge, "is an effort to predetermine the outcome of the negotiation before it has begun. It must be characterized as an unreasonable position which delays progress at these meetings."

Obviously concerned over the failure of the talks to produce substantive negotiations, Lodge said after the meeting: "I am literally willing to take every step and do every honorable thing that can be done."

The brunt of the Viet Cong and Hanoi attacks were directed at the U.S. plan to replace American forces by South Vietnamese as rapidly as the South Vietnamese can be trained and equipped, as military conditions permit and as the peace talks progress.

Nixon said in his June 19 news conference he hoped to have all U.S. ground forces out of Vietnam by the end of 1970. Lodge quoted some extracts from the Nixon conference, but did not mention specifically the reference to 1970. Lau referred to it indirectly.

31st Airliner Pirated to Cuba; 57 on Board

MIAMI (AP) — A young man who said he was from Santa Monica jammed a pistol in the neck of a DC8 jetliner pilot and forced him to take a Los Angeles-to-New York flight to Cuba, United Air Lines Capt. Edward Nibur said Thursday.

"He came into the cockpit and said, 'Let's go to Cuba,' Nibur related after bringing his plane and passengers back to Miami.

"The gun was pressed into my neck, so I said, 'Sit down and relax,' Nibur said. 'And he told me: 'Keep going, baby.'"

Nibur's DC8 was just 16 minutes out of Los Angeles Wednesday afternoon when the young man commandeered the plane and 57 people aboard.

"He told me to fly nonstop to Cuba," Nibur said, "and said not to tell him I didn't have enough fuel. If you don't have enough, we'll fly until we run out," Nibur said the young man told him.

The hijacking, the 31st commercial airliner pirated to Cuba this year, began when the young man—described as white, about 5-foot-8, 150 pounds and wearing a white windbreaker—jammed his pistol into the side of a passenger seated next to him. The skyjacker ordered: "Get up, let's go."

"He told me he was from Santa Monica," Nibur said. "But we didn't talk much. He began telling me about a barber who told him that his hair grew faster on the right side than the left side and then went into a political discussion that I could not follow."

The hijacker left behind a small flight bag which other passengers said contained leftist literature.

Upon arrival at Havana, a Cuban soldier boarded the plane, took the man's gun, retrieved the flight bag and escorted the sky pirate off.

The passengers spent the night in the Riviera Hotel in downtown Havana and arrived in Miami at 1:45 p.m. EDT.

IN AUTOBIOGRAPHY

Sex Bomb to Tell All—Again

LONDON (AP) — Christine Keeler, titian-haired sex bomb whose night life rattled Harold Macmillan's Conservative government six years ago, is about to tell all—again.

Now 27, the girl who disported with British War Minister John D. Profumo at the same time she slept with the Soviet Naval attaché, has painstakingly ground out, hunt-and-peck on a typewriter, her autobiography of those hectic times.

The prospect is pleasing to publishers, who were reported bidding for the 70,000-word opus. There may be considerably less joy among those who would like to forget.

Married for 2½ months, then divorced and now a mother, Miss Keeler says: "I want my son to have my own account."

Her account takes the Tory party leaders apart and also slams the Labor opposition for helping to steam up the scandal, which some say actually led to Labor's triumph in the 1964 general elections.

"I am perfectly frank about the facts, about myself—yes, I was promiscuous—and about other people," she said in an interview.

That would be dealing with what broke into the open in the early spring of 1963. Rumors spread that Christine, Mandy Rice Davies and other girl friends of osteopath Stephen Ward were, in fact, being hired out to men in top positions.

Dragged into it finally were War Minister Profumo, Soviet Naval Capt. Yevgeny Ivanov, Lord Astor of Cliveden and a half dozen others close enough to cringe but far enough away to find haven behind the libel laws.

Ward was tried for living off the earnings of prostitution. Christine and Mandy were prime witnesses. Profumo was hauled before the House of Commons and denied the rumors of his association. Faced with additional evidence, he confessed he had lied, and resigned his Cabinet post.

Ward endured the trial until the final day. He failed to show up. They found him in his Chelsea flat, overcome with drugs. He died about the time the jury returned a conviction.

Christine sold her story at the time for what some said amounted to $70,000. Mandy was said to have reaped about half that.

They disappeared, Christine to get married. Mandy wound up running a night club in Tel Aviv, married to an Israeli.

Profumo devoted himself to charity work. His actress wife, Valerie Hobson, stuck by him. Now 54, Profumo is still wealthy but out of the limelight.

The Soviet intelligence officer escaped the limelight personally by doing a quick fade-out to Moscow.

The Astors' Cliveden Castle and Ward's own cottage on the property now are being used for educational purposes.

SWIMMING POOL CHECK

Youngsville has received a check for $8,283 toward the cost of blacktopping the Brokenstraw Valley Swimming Pool area. Holding the check are Neal Coughlin, Erie, center, regional director of the State Department of Community Affairs, and James Malone, Youngsville borough manager. Frank Hendrickson, Youngsville council chairman, looks on. The money was a grant from Project 500 funds and covers half the cost of the blacktopping. (Photo by Rhodes)

Three-Hour Power Failure Brings Jamestown to Halt

JAMESTOWN — Jamestown area residents were again with out electrical power Thursday afternoon due to the failure of the number six generator at the Steele st. generating plant. The new generator which failed, is the same generator which was the cause of four successive days of power failures last April.

Officials of the Board of Public Utilities say they are baffled over the reasons for the failure of the new equipment. Engineers from General Electric Corp., makers of the generator, have been working at the Jamestown plant for several weeks. The equipment, they felt, was set to operate according to plans, but for some, as yet unexplained, reasons the blackout began at 12:30 p.m. Thursday in the Jamestown area.

Several stores, factories and businesses sent employees home when work all but stopped due to the power failure. Most of the city was without power for 3½ hours as housewives were calling the electric division of the BPU, concerned over the food in their refrigerators and freezers.

Air conditioners in offices and stores shut down, but emergency power equipment went into operation at both of the city's hospitals.

A BPU spokesman said Thursday night engineers are still trying to find out why the generator, which suffered extensive bearing damage last April, is failing to operate according to design.

Curfew Set in Cairo, Ill. After Black-White Incident

CAIRO, Ill. (AP)—A missile-throwing incident flared up between groups of Negroes and whites gathered at Cairo's police station Thursday night. It was quickly brought under control but increased state police patrols and an 8 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew were ordered.

The 70 state policemen, ordered into the city last week after incidents of firebombings and gunfire, were not on duty when the incident took place at the police station but were quickly ordered into the area.

Police estimated that some 300 to 400 white residents paraded about 15 blocks as part of a mothers' march to demand equal rights for whites, but many of the walkers were men.

The group was jeered as it stood in front of the station by about 150 black men and youths who were on the opposite side of the street.

Police Chief William Petersen walked through the crowd trying to placate the dissident white residents who carried signs, "We Love Cairo," "We Want Equal Rights," and "There's Two Sides to Every Story."

The mothers' group hauled a Confederate flag up the staff in front of the station but it was quickly pulled down. Petersen gave the group an American flag which was raised among cheers and choruses of "God Bless America."

The Negroes across the street taunted the whites and shouted obscenities.

Suddenly, a bottle was thrown from the midst of the white crowd. It shattered on the sidewalk near the Negroes and a barrage of bricks, bottles and stones followed from both sides of the street.

Windows of several passing cars were shattered.

The women in the white crowd fled to the rear of the police station. The Negroes scattered.

About 20 policemen were on hand at the time but they were unable to prevent the fracas.

Petersen's curfew order came almost immediately after the incident.

An overnight curfew had been in effect in the Mississippi River city for eight days after incidents last week. It was lifted Tuesday.

Earlier Thursday, a major fire of undetermined origin caused the temporary evacuation of more than 3,000 residents.

The blaze, in a five-block-long warehouse complex sent noxious chemical fumes across half the city and police urged residents to leave the area until it was determined that the fumes were nontoxic. The residents then returned home.

The fire, in Hudson Warehouses, Inc., was the latest of several major blazes that has plagued this southernmost Illinois city in recent weeks. Many of the fires were blamed on arsonists.

Hospital Rates To Go Up 20%

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Philadelphia area hospitals will raise room rates by 20 to 30 per cent beginning Tuesday, a newspaper survey indicates.

The Philadelphia Inquirer, in its Friday editions, reported that the cost of the average semi-private room will rise 27 per cent to an average of $57 from $45 a day.

The room rates do not include increases in ancillary services such as drug costs, operating rooms, lab tests and radiology.

A Blue Cross rate increase of 20 per cent was approved last month.

Plan Tag Days

Administration Seeks Ban On Voters Literacy Tests

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration proposed Thursday that the 1965 Voting Rights Act expire and be replaced with a nationwide ban on literacy tests and state residency requirements for presidential elections.

The proposal brought a prompt accusation from a Negro leader that the administration is trying to pay off a political debt to the South and in doing so is endangering Negroes' political gains. The 1965 act applies only to seven Southern states.

Clarence Mitchell, spokesman for the National Association of Colored People, said the proposal is "a deadly way of thwarting progress" made by Negro voters in the South under existing legislation.

Mitchell, testifying before a House judiciary subcommittee, said the administration is living up to a campaign pledge made by President Nixon last year in his presidential campaign. He said Nixon, in a bid for Southern support, promised he would oppose any legislation aimed at a single region of the country.

As outlined by Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, the administration proposal would replace the 1965 voting law with legislation extending some of its provisions to all states.

He found little support for the administration plan in the subcommittee, most of whose members favor extending the 1965 act for at least five more years.

Chairman Emanuel Celler, D.N.Y., said the administration bill "bristles with difficulties" that would require long consideration by Congress. Meanwhile, he said, the 1965 act would expire and there would be no voting rights law.

Atty. Gen. Mitchell, who had left the hearing before most of the criticism of the bill was voiced, said there is no intention on the part of the administration to weaken the protection now given to Negroes in the South.

"We merely want to extend the benefits of this type of legislation to other parts of the country," he said.

However, the leading Republican spokesman on civil rights in the House, Rep. William McCulloch of Ohio disagreed with the attorney general's assessment of the bill.

"This is a weaker voting rights act than the present one," said McCulloch. He and most other GOP members of the subcommittee said they would continue to support extension of the 1965 act.

Bill Would Expand Facilities At Chapman Dam State Park

Chapman Dam State Park facilities will be expanded and modernized in the near future if a bill, introduced in the Pennsylvania State Senate Wednesday is successful.

Senator Richard Frame introduced a bill in the Senate calling for $560,000 for improvement in the dam area.

According to a joint statement issued by the offices of Senator Frame and Assemblyman William Allen, the bill calls for a complete new sewage disposal system for the dam area, an entirely new water system, greatly enlarged parking facilities, and other improvements.

The money will come from the General State Authority funds through the general state appropriations bill.

The bill will be sent to the house for approval, if and when it passes the state senate.

It was noted by the two legislators that the appropriation came through the joint efforts of area chambers of commerce, the Kinzua Dam Vacation Bureau, and other organizations, working through senators, representatives and department heads in Harrisburg.

Last summer Maurice Goddard, secretary of the Department of Forests and Waters, made a trip through the Warren County area, escorted by Senator Frame and Representative Allen. During the tour Secretary Goddard met with local authorities and organizations in the Chapman Dam area.

News In Brief

NORANDA, Que. (AP)—The Anglican diocese of Moosonee on Hudson Bay is asking the Apollo 11 astronauts to carry its best wishes in English and the Cree language to the Indian con-juror Cha Ka pesh who, according to tribal legend, lives on the moon with his wife. The Rev. Redfern Loutit told the diocese he hoped Indians on the moon would be more cautious about granting treaty rights than the North American Indians were.

TOKYO (AP)—The Mitsukoshi department store has unveiled a miniature of the Apollo 11 lunar module to help sales of space toys. Its diameter is 3.28 feet, it cost $4,138 and, attached to a ceiling mechanism, it revolves in a 52.4-ft. orbit.

LUCKNOW, India (AP)—The Lucknow kurta, a long, loose see-through shirt worn mostly by men in India, has become a hot export item. State officials report about $27,000 worth have been sold to clothing stores in the United States and France. They go for about $1.60 here.

PUC Asks Study On Area Crossing

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Public Utility Commission asked the State Highways Department Thursday to prepare by Nov. 28 its plans for improvement of the Scott's Road crossing near Corry, Warren County.

The commission called on the department for a comprehensive engineering study of conditions at the Erie-Lackawanna crossing, where five persons were killed and a sixth injured in a train-car accident last year.

'Forgotten' Soldier Is Ordered Back to Duty

PORTERVILLE, Calif. (AP)—A soldier forgotten by the Army for 15 months was ordered Thursday to report to Ft. Ord for another year of active duty. He had wanted an immediate discharge.

The Army told Pvt. Richard Beatty he must serve the year to make up for time lost while he was on an "extended furlough."

The 21-year-old Beatty's troubles started in November of 1967 when he returned from duty in Nuremberg, Germany. He was granted a furlough and told to wait at his home for orders to report to Ft. Lewis, Wash., for shipment to Vietnam.

After nearly two months had passed with no orders, Beatty said he contacted the Pentagon, his local recruiter and Ft. Lewis for advice. The advice was the same at all points: wait for further orders.

When Beatty's normal separation date came up last February, Beatty hired an attorney and demanded an immediate discharge and 15 months back pay.

Beatty said Thursday he will report July 5 as ordered but that he will go ahead with efforts to obtain a discharge through federal court.

An Army spokesman at Ft. Ord said the order for Beatty to serve another year came from Washington. The spokesman said he didn't know if Beatty would be shipped to Vietnam or assigned to a post in the United States. But he said no court martial action is planned.

He has been working in a local sawmill.

House Unit Scraps Key Parts Of Holding Companies Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—A majority of the House Banking Committee scrapped key sections of a bill to regulate one-bank holding companies Thursday, substituting provisions easier on recently formed financial combines.

A major change written into the legislation would provide that such companies would not be required to divest themselves of nonbanking affiliates acquired before Feb. 17, 1969.

"That was after the gold rush," Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., complained in vain. He referred to a wave of holding company formations, including a number by some of the country's biggest banks, in 1967 and 1968.

BIRMINGHAM, England (AP)—The Infinite wait in Samuel Beckett's "Waiting for Godot" was 20 minutes longer than usual at a night performance here this week. Actor Desmond McNamara, the star in the role of "Lucky," fell asleep on the train from London and missed his stop here. An understudy went on—20 minutes late—and McNamara never appeared at all. Neither does Godot in the play.

TORONTO (AP)—One of Thomas Alva Edison's original light bulbs, reported still in working condition, is part of the 1,900-lamp collection of Arthur Plimpton, 77, on display at the Ontario Museum. Retired after 45 years with the Hydro Research Division, Plimpton writes to people around the world to spot rare bulbs. He doesn't light the Edison: "I don't gamble with the more valuable lamps. I want to keep them for posterity."

LUSAKA, Zambia (AP)—Police are investigating an alleged racket in used coffins in the copperbelt town of Chibambabwe. Unconfirmed reports said four coffin-makers have been arrested on charges of hiring grave robbers to dig up coffins for resale at bargain prices.

Sheriff Attends Miami Meeting

Sheriff Don Allen was a member of the Pennsylvania delegation to the recent 29th annual Informative Conference of the National Sheriffs' Association at Miami Beach, Fla.

The three-day conference covered problems experienced in law enforcement and discussion of practices in sheriffs' offices. Speakers included Florida Atty. Gen. Earl Faircloth; Charles Rogovla, director of federal law enforcement assistance; and Martin M. Puncke, director of the federal highway safety program service.

Allen is president of the Pennsylvania State Sheriffs' Association.

Youth Drowns

MCKEESPORT, Pa. (AP)—A 10-year-old boy drowned Thursday while swimming in the Monongahela River.

Police said the boy, "Butch" Province of McKeesport, was with two girls, one a baby sitter, when the drowning occurred. The boy's body was recovered about 15 minutes after he went under, police said.

The accident happened at a public swimming spot, the Love-dale Beach, about one mile north of nearby Elizabeth.

Sailor Goes AWOL

Borough police picked up John C. Dunn, 23, 411 Hickock rd., Thursday upon request of the U.S. Navy. Dunn has been absent without leave from the Naval station at Newport, R.I., since June 6, police said. He has been transferred to the county jail to await the arrival of Naval authorities.

Killed in Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two more Pennsylvania servicemen killed in action in the Vietnam War were named Thursday in a Defense Department casualty list.

They were Army — Sgt. Fred M. Bailey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Bailey, and Army — Pfc. Michael P. Warner, husband of Mary E. Warner, both of Philadelphia.

U.S. Officer Says Enemy Could Seize Camp for a Price

SAIGON (AP) — The 3,000 North Vietnamese besieging Ben Het could probably seize that Special Forces camp if willing to pay the price, a U.S. officer declared Thursday.

And it was disclosed that more than 100 U.S. artillerymen and Green Beret troops have been killed or wounded in the incessant barrages that have been pouring in on the camp since June 1. South Vietnamese irregular defenders also have been hard hit.

Ben Het was hit by 125 rounds of heavy fire Thursday, U.S. headquarters reported Friday morning. It said casualties were light, with no fatalities, among the South Vietnamese irregulars and U.S. forces.

Associated Press photographer Ollie Noonan reported from the battle area that the heaviest round of firing from the nearby ridges came shortly after 4 p.m., when 85 rounds slammed into the camp. He said it was generally quiet through the night and there was speculation that the enemy forces were repositioning some of their big weapons under cover of darkness.

Neither the U.S. nor the South Vietnamese commands listed any other significant ground action early Friday.

The camp, in the central highlands 280 miles north of Saigon, is on an enemy infiltration route from the borders of Cambodia and Laos, and the North Vietnamese may be trying to neutralize it. They are testing the South Vietnamese forces, who have taken over the defense of the region from U.S. troops.

The senior Green Beret officer in the area, Lt. Col. Andrew Marquis, said the North Vietnamese have two full infantry regiments—the 28th and 66th—around Ben Het as well as an artillery regiment and a sapper battalion.

"We figure there are 3,000 men up there, plus bearers," he said. "If they want to send those two regiments straight up the hills they could probably take Ben Het. But we would make it so costly to them in human life I doubt they will try it."

The defenders of Ben Het, mud-caked and weary, hugged their bunker walls again Thursday as enemy shells crashed into the camp that has been under fire for 57 days.

Despite allied counterartillery fire, nearly 1,000 air strikes and 4,500 government troops maneuvering in the area, North Vietnamese gunners recently have boosted their daily shelling of the outpost.

Zeroing in on the hilltop camp with 85mm howitzers, mortars and recoilless rifles, the North Vietnamese have been averaging 60 rounds a day into the outpost and an adjoining U.S. artillery position since June 1.

Although allied spokesmen in Saigon have claimed Ben Het is not under siege, the 700 Vietnamese and Montagnard civilian irregulars, their U.S. Green Beret advisers and American artillerymen defending the camp don't see it that way.

One American officer told Associated Press correspondent Peter Arnett at Ben Het: "Saigon keeps asking why we don't lift the siege. I tell them why we can't—the troops are tired. The Vietnamese may have taken as many as 50 per cent casualties. We need more people, fresh people."

The South Vietnamese command has moved about 4,500 commandos, rangers and infantrymen into the area to relieve pressure on the camp.

The government's weekly casualty report, while not listing losses by battle areas shows that South Vietnamese troops have lost more men in the past three weeks than during any such period so far this year.

There have been 1,447 government troops killed and 4,311 wounded June 1-21, and undoubtedly many were claimed in the battle for Ben Het and Dak To, 10 miles to the south-east.

A government spokesman announced that a four-day operation to clear Route 512 leading into Ben Het from Dak To ended Wednesday with 214 enemy soldiers killed, including 56 by air and artillery. He said South Vietnamese losses were 17 killed and 94 wounded.

The spokesman also said they had cleared the highway, but no allied trucks have ventured along the road since Tuesday and critical supplies were still going into Ben Het by parachute drops.

Americans in the camp credit around-the-clock air strikes with keeping the enemy off balance.

The camp itself resembles Khe Sanh, the U.S. Marine combat base in the far northwest that underwent a similar siege before it was abandoned.

"What we need up here are U.S. Marines or some U.S. infantry," an American artillery officer said.

"But as far as is known, there is no intention to commit more Americans to the battle for Ben Het, which is considered a South Vietnamese responsibility."

The U.S. Command in Saigon announced that 247 Americans were killed in action last week, a drop of 88 from the previous week. The number of wounded fell from 1,695 to 1,686.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported 474 of its men were killed and 1,496 wounded last week, compared with 516 killed and 1,424 wounded the week before.

The two commands reported 3,988 enemy troops were killed last week, compared with 4,504 the previous week.

The week's report raised U.S. casualties since Jan. 1, 1961, to 36,625 killed, 234,889 wounded, 1,337 missing.

Bill Would Extend Appalachian Commission Until June 30, 1971

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation to extend the life of six regional development commissions for two more years was approved in a somewhat different form Thursday by the House and Senate Public Works Committees.

Both bills would extend until June 30, 1971, the Appalachian, New England, Coastal Plains, Ozark, Upper Great Lakes and Four Corners Regional Development Commissions now in existence.

The two bills, however differ in details and amounts to be authorized.

Appalachia was set up by Congress several years ago to provide for development of economically depressed areas in 13 Appalachian states. A large highway program was a feature of the plan.

The other commissions were established later to provide somewhat similar economic aid to parts of 20 states.

Both bills approved Thursday, committee aides said, would put the five newer commissions on the same footing as Appalachia in regard to making grants-in-aid, as well as supplemental grants.

The house bill would authorize total appropriations of $215.9 million for Appalachia for the two years. The Senate bill would authorize $295.1 million.

The bills differed somewhat on the highway program for Appalachia.

The House bill would extend the program through June 30, 1972, to insure that none of the previous authorization would be lost. Aides said that without the added year, $195 million of the existing $1,015,000,000 authorization might be lost.

The Senate bill, on the other hand, would extend the program through June 30, 1973 and add $150 million in new authorization.

The Senate bill also would add some new Appalachia programs, including $10 million for retraining programs for coal miners and money for detection, diagnosis and treatment for black lung and other similar elements affecting coal miners.

Terrorists Set Off Bombs In Protest to Rocky's Visit

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Terrorists set off incendiary bombs Thursday in 14 of 17 supermarkets owned by a Rockefeller-founded corporation here in protest against the visit next week of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Seven of the large, modern supermarkets were destroyed and seven were "damaged partially," said a spokesman for the International Basic Economy Corp., owner of the stores.

He estimated damage at $2.85 million.

Police said they did not know who planted the bombs. This was the first major terrorist attack under the 3-year-old regime of President Juan Carlos Onganía.

The New York governor flies here from New York on Sunday night for the first stop of his fourth and final fact-finding swing into Latin America for President Nixon. From here he will fly to Haiti.

Sources in Argentina said that Rockefeller's stay in Argentina would be cut to 36 hours, from its original planned duration of three days, because of violence associated with Thursday's bombings. Rockefeller's New York office denied this, however, saying he still plans to arrive Sunday and leave Tuesday at noon.

Outbreaks of student rioting and labor unrest began in late May and have created a critical situation for Gen. Onganía's government.

Raimundo Ongaro, chief of the powerful antigovernment wing of the National Labor confederation, announced worker demonstrations will be staged Friday against the government and Rockefeller's visit. Student groups have announced support for these demonstrations.

Claim New Laws to Suppress Campus Riots Would Be Unwise

HARRISBURG (AP) — Students, faculty members and administrators told a special Senate committee Thursday that new laws to suppress campus disturbances would be unwise and even harmful.

The only dissenting witness among the dozen who testified was a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars who called student radicals "the greatest threat to American life and existence today."

The Philadelphia war veteran, John Capifoglio, said: "When a house is overrun with roaches, you call in the exterminators."

On the other side, Judith Teller, a student at the University of Pennsylvania and editor of the student newspaper, said: "To enact legislation aimed at crippling campus demonstrations would be a mistake."

Such legislation "would freeze the universities in a time of transition," she said, adding

50 Fires Burn Across Alaska

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — Close to 50 fires were burning Thursday across Alaska, where 600,000 acres have been consumed in what could become the state's worst fire season on record.

Among the current fires is a 300,000-acre blaze northwest of Fairbanks.

Most fires have centered in uninhabited areas, although a small number of homes have been threatened.

Some 1,400 Bureau of Land Management employees are battling the blazes, as are personnel and equipment from the U.S. Forest Service, Air Force and Army.

Drought is blamed for conditions which have nurtured 316 forest and brush fires this year, with more than two months of the "fire season" remaining. The state's record was set last year when 445 fires consumed nearly a million acres.

Congressman Listed as Voting On The Day of His Funeral

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressman is listed in the Congressional Record Thursday — the day of his funeral — as having voted on a bill three days after his death.

The Record, which is the daily publication of the proceedings of Congress, recorded Rep. William H. Bates, R-Mass., as voting "no" Wednesday on a bill to give every House member an extra office worker.

The measure carried by a vote of 204-195.

Bates died Sunday. He was buried Thursday in Salem, Mass.

The office of the tally clerk, which calls the roll, blamed the error on the Government Printing Office, which prints the Record.

The office said Bates's name was removed from the official roll call shortly after his death, and that his name was not read during either of Wednesday's two roll calls.

The clerk's office asked the printing office for an official explanation to be inserted in the Record Friday.

The error was made exactly one week after the House ethics committee reported it found no evidence of complicity in a series of roll-call errors disclosed last September.

The Committee on Standards of Official Conduct called the errors the result of physical strain on the tally clerk and of the roll-call system itself.

Those discrepancies involved listing on roll calls the names of members who were known to have been absent or out of town at the time. The committee staff said the errors had no effect on legislative results because the results were one-sided.

Thousands Bid Goodbye To Star Judy Garland

NEW YORK (AP) — Judy Garland, her vibrant voice and twinkling feet stilled in death, made the last of her great New York comebacks Thursday—for ever a star to the thousands who came to bid goodbye. "No one had the personality and the talent to hold an audience as she did," said one of her mourners, Helen Strier of Manhattan.

And hold her last audience, Judy truly did. They stood in long lines down Fifth Avenue and east on 81st Street, patiently awaiting a brief glimpse of the 47-year-old actress who died Sunday in London of an accidental overdose of sleeping pills.

When they finally inched their way inside the Frank E. Campbell funeral chapel at 81st and Madison Avenue, they moved in single file past a casket trimmed in baby blue, and blanketed with yellow roses.

Some wept. Many turned full face or bent over for a closer look at Miss Garland, dressed in the silver lame wedding gown in which she was married for the fifth time just three months ago.

On her right little finger, in the French manner, was a braided gold wedding ring, twin to one worn by her husband, Mickey Deans. It was he who found her dead in the bathroom of their London cottage and brought her body back to New York early Thursday.

Silver slippers were on Judy's feet, which had danced through so many moments of show business triumph.

Many of the mourners brought their own bouquets, or single roses, adding them to a mass of formal floral tributes. Among the latter was a rainbow shaped design—a reminder of Judy's vocal trademark, "Over the Rainbow."

The mourners were young, middle aged and old, well tailored and simply dressed.

There were 3,000 on line before the funeral chapel was opened to the public shortly before noon.

For Friday's 1 p.m. private funeral services at the chapel, Judy's older daughter, Liza Minnelli, asked the invited guests not to wear black.

"The funeral will be in yellow and white," Miss Minnelli announced.

Following the Episcopal funeral services, Miss Garland will be buried in Ferncliff Cemetery Mausoleum, Hartsdale, N.Y., in Westchester County just north of New York.

About 4,500 children under 15 died of cancer last year according to the American Cancer Society. Help cut this toll by supporting the Society's April Crusade.

Wonder Drug

This is the time of year when the good sounds of summer are all about us. Yet how many in the Warren area are hearing these sounds without the interference of motor noises of one kind or another, or the hundred and one other man-made disturbances which drown out the song of the bird, the chirp of the cricket, even the rustle of the grass? Far too many.

Psychologists and sociologists tell us that a vital human need is to commune with nature. That to go alone to an isolated forest grove or sit on the bank of a stream at midnight is a type of therapy that cleanses a man's soul. And in either of these situations one will find that it is the good sounds of summer that furnish most of the entertainment.

Modern society has established its own patterns for seeking relaxation. A sunbath in the backyard, a boat ride on the lake, a swim at the beach, or a round of golf may get one's mind off immediate problems and offer a change from life's routines, but the therapeutic value of isolation is missing. Not only isolation from any and all things that hint of man's existence on this earth of ours.

Today's sophisticate has a tendency to look upon the bird-watcher, the primitive camper, the backpacker and others who have a desire to be alone with nature as "odd ones," but among this breed the need for tranquilizers, barbituates, and a bit of the odd stuff to soothe the nerves is at an extremely low level.

We search for wonder drugs to soothe our growing tensions while the good sounds of summer go unheard. Yet if we consider the few persons who benefit from the therapeutic values of these sounds there is room to wonder if we aren't ignoring the greatest wonder drug of all.

Who's 'Prime'? Not You!

This month's establishment of an 8½ per cent bank rate to the nation's prime borrowers continues to make headlines around the world—for the enormity of this historic rate to the top rank of borrowers is just beginning to sink in. But who is "prime" enough to borrow from a American bank even at 8½ per cent?

NOT YOU!

Not you, even assuming you are as prime as they come, for your bank will ask you to leave part of your loan on deposit (compensating balance) and this means you'll not have use of all the money you borrow at 8½. Depending on how much of your loan you "voluntarily" maintain in your account, the total cost to you will range UP from 9½ to 10½.

By far the cheapest place and way for you to borrow money today is at your life insurance company and against the cash value of your life policy. You can get a life insurance policy loan for 5 per cent and you have the privilege of repayment at your own discretion and convenience. If this medium is open to you, use it.

Otherwise, here are "real life" borrowing rates now being charged, according to a survey just made by the New York bank consulting firm of Carter H.

Golembe Associates, Inc. What follows are general ranges of charges around the country, expressed as an annual percentage rate, for as Helene Duffy, vice president of Carter H. Golembe puts it, "the annual rate is the key yardstick by which you can measure and compare credit costs."

In this listing, fees and other charges are not included in the annual percentage rates—except for mortgage credit. If you include fees, the rate will be higher. Now here goes: 10.90 to 11.58 per cent for a commercial bank personal loan. This covers both add-ons and discount loans for which you will pay $6 per $100 (if $6 per $100 is maintained). 18 to 42 per cent for a small loan from a small loan company. This is stated as 1½ to 3½ per cent per month.

8 to 12 per cent to a loan from a credit union to which you belong. The rate is stated as 2/3 of 1 per cent to 1 per cent a month.

10.57 to 13.61 per cent for a new car loan from a commercial bank. The rate is stated as 5½ to 7 per cent per $100.

12.59 to 15.68 per cent for a new car loan from a sales finance company. The rate is stated as 6½ to 8 per cent per $100.

18 per cent for a department store revolving account with limit. This is stated as 1½ per cent a month. Also Mrs. Duffy points out, "department stores typically offer one to three year contracts on more expensive items with annual percentage interest costs ranging as high as 20 per cent."

18 per cent for commercial bank revolving accounts and credit cards. This is stated as 1½ per cent per month.

12 per cent for an overdraft line of credit as a commercial bank. This is stated as 1 per cent per month.

8.06 per cent as an AVERAGE annual percentage rate on mortgage loans—including loan commissions, fees, discounts and other charges but excluding closing costs. (This was the average in February; it is much higher now.) And my own "real life" range starts at 9½ per cent and goes way up.

I think these rates are minimums now and the full impact of the squeeze on the availability of credit plus an 8½ per cent prime rate is still to be felt. What's more, I haven't touched on the riskier loans—used cars, for instance—or the shadier areas of financing.

You simply must SHOP for the best finance charge. You cannot be content with knowing only the monthly dollar payment. The Truth in Lending Law, which becomes effective next Tuesday, couldn't be coming at a more crucially important time for you.

Latest Offering Of Moose

High-Powered Figuring! — One thing that certainly can be said about Pennsylvania's current 1969 legislative session; it little else it has produced an unprecedented pile of budgetary proposals for upcoming fiscal year 1969-70!

Latest budgetary offering for His Excellency and the taxpayers of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania was produced this week by Denison in control of the House of Representatives. Budgetary proposals prior to this latest fiscal essay included the prime time submitted by the Governor himself back in January, then later one submitted by the House GOP minority bloc, then one offered by the GOP bloc running the Senate—and now this one from the lair of anti-administration House Democrats.

The latest offering of fiscal moose meat isn't too invigorating from the taxpayer standpoint—at only chips away around $123 million in increased spending of the half-billion-dollar-plus increase proposed by the Governor in his budget.

But even the $123 million donkey riders would seem to be in question. For example, in the pronouncement accompanying the Democratic budget proposal, the statement was made that the Democratic budget is "approximately $123 million lower than the amount Governor Shaner has said was needed."

That something doesn't quite jibe even on this elementary facet is evidenced by the fact that (without computer aid) subtracting the Democratic $123 million from the Governor's original (in January) budget submission of $2,522 brings us down to $2,399 for the Democratic budget figure—not the $2,487 million figure they used.

Or, if you add the $62 million the Governor subsequently said he would need because of original spending underestimates, this brings the gubernatorial total currently to $2,584 billion, and subtracting again the $123 million House Democrats say is the amount their budget is lower, we come up with a figure of $2,461 billion—off some $16 million from their announced total of $2,487 billion.

In any event, if on Senate Minority Democrats—the only ones who may not as yet jump into the waterless budgetary pool.

What, No Dancing Girls? — Two Philadelphia members of the House of Representatives have introduced an intriguing bit of legislation.

It's only five lines long but this is what it proposes: "The sum of two million dollars ($2,000), or as much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby specifically appropriated to the Department of Property and Supplies to construct a State Employees' auditorium, swimming pool, classrooms, basketball court, and legislators' lounge."

(Certainly provision would be made for a golf course, an obvious oversight in laying out the State Payroll's Country Club.)

But interestingly is that last clause—provision for a "legislators' lounge." Does this mean only lawmakers would be permitted to use such a lounge, otherwise why the "legislators' specification? Do they really need a lounge in the first place; after all, they have their cloakrooms!

Note To Young Hunters—The Pennsylvania Game Commission offers this timely reminder to youthful nimrods: Beginning September 1, no hunting license will be issued in Pennsylvania to any person under the age of 16 unless he presents either (a) evidence that he has held a hunting license in Pennsylvania or another state in a prior year, or (b) a certificate of competency showing that he has successfully completed a course of instruction in the safe handling of firearms and bows and arrows.

Nixon Boo-Boo Rivals Others

WASHINGTON — President Nixon, who prides himself on being more skillful at televised press conferences than any other President — and probably is — may have pulled a boo-boo comparable to Harry Truman's press conference mistake when HST said he might drop the atomic bomb in Korea.

This brought Prime Minister Clement Attlee flying across the Atlantic from London the next day. Likewise Nixon's staff has been rushing out statements ever since his press conference, denying that he meant what he said when he indicated that he'd developed a better approach to ending the war than his critics from the Johnson administration, and that he hoped to bring American troops home faster than ex-Secretary of Defense Clark Clifford suggested.

All the President expressed was a "hope," Nixon's aides insist, not a promise of troop withdrawal.

However, the impact left on the public mind by the initial Presidential statement is usually the one which lasts. And it's possible that this press conference will be a turning point for peace. In brief, Nixon is probably stuck with his remark in which he out-Clifforded Clark Clifford.

Specifically, here is what President Nixon said when asked about Clifford's suggestion that 100,000 troops be pulled out of South Vietnam by the end of this year:

"I respect his judgment as a former Secretary of Defense. I would point out, however, that for five years in the administration in which he was Secretary of Defense in the last part, we had a continued escalation of the war; we had 500,000 Americans in Vietnam; we had 35,000 killed; we have over 200,000 injured. And in addition to that, we found that in the year — the full year in which he was Secretary of Defense — our casualties were the highest of the whole five-year period. And as far as negotiations were concerned, all that had been accomplished — as I indicated earlier — was that we had agreed on the shape of the table."

"Now this is not to say that Mr. Clifford's present judgment is not to be considered because of the past record."

"It does indicate, however, that he did have a chance in this particular respect, and did not move on it then."

"I believe that we have changed that policy. We have started to withdraw forces. We will withdraw more. And another decision will be made in August. I will not indicate the extent of the training of the South Vietnamese, as well as developments in Paris, and the other factors that I have mentioned previously.

"As far as how many will be withdrawn by the end of this year, by the end of next year, I would hope that we could beat Mr. Clifford's timetable, just as I think we've done a little better than he did when he was in charge of our national defense."

The immediate reaction to the President's statement was twofold:

1. His friends and aides gloated over the manner in which he had cut the ground out from under Clifford. They said it was such a neat piece of decapitation that the former Secretary of Defense wouldn't realize his head was cut off until he tried to turn it.

2. Every newspaper in the country the next day played up the President's expectation of bringing back more troops than Clifford proposed. The New York Times led with page one headlines, "President Hopes Pullout Will Top 200,000 Before '71."

It's learned from inside the White House that Mr. Nixon rehearsed his reply to Clark Clifford. He knew the question would be asked; in fact, White House aides had the question planted, and it was asked early in the press conference.

Therefore, it's obvious that Mr. Nixon deliberately planned to cut the political ground out from under Clifford. But the big question is, did he go too far?

Everyone from Senators to diplomats and from newsmen to politicians has been debating that question. The chief worry in the White House is that Nixon cut the ground out not only from under Clifford but also his own negotiators in Paris, and that the North Vietnamese are not going to budge further toward concessions as long as they know Nixon is committed to massive troop withdrawals.

Only time can tell what will happen in Paris. However, it's pretty well agreed that President Nixon made a prodigious mistake.

His friends point out that other Presidents have also made mistakes, which is true. In addition to Truman's boner regarding the use of the atomic bomb in Korea, he also once got Yugoslavians mixed up with Czechoslovakia, and the White House had to issue a correction.

Then there was the very serious error made by President Harding when he got the Japanese-mandated islands of the Pacific mixed up with the Japanese home islands and the entire Washington treaty had to have a protocol added to clarify this point.

There were also small errors in Eisenhower's press conferences chiefly resulting from long, rambling sentences. The late President had a passion for prolixity.

But neither Eisenhower, Truman nor Johnson, it should be noted, considered himself a star on television.

It's Your Money

"I have three questions I would like to see answered in your column," writes Mrs. C. G.

"1—All factors being equal, does one receive a larger benefit if he works right up to the time he applies for benefits, rather than when there is a period of several years from when he last worked until he applies for benefits?

"2—Does rental income in excess of $1,680 per year make any difference in the amount of Social Security benefits one may receive? (As compared to the earned income limit).

"3—I saw the enclosed table in one of your recent columns, which confuses me. I always thought they used your 10 best years of earnings to figure individual benefits. Is this a new ruling? I was born in 1909. I think I worked a total of 10 years, and know I have from 36 to 40 quarters (credits). Do I need to work more years to be eligible?"

A—Since Social Security averages a certain number of high years of earnings in determining the benefit amount, a man who works steadily up to the time of his retirement would have "more years to pick from" than a man who had years of no earnings. The important factor is what the average earnings would be over the period involved. The higher the average, the higher the benefit.

Rental income is not considered in the work test ($1,680 earnings) before some benefits are withheld.

The number of years used in computing benefits depends upon the sex of the individual and the year the person reaches retirement age—62 for a woman; 65 for a man.

The table you refer to is correct. It lists the number of years that must be counted in figuring the retirement benefits of men and women, according to the year of their birth.

In your case, your benefit amount will be based upon an average of your highest 15 years of earnings after 1950. You have enough work credits to be sure of a benefit.

This is not a new ruling, but many people are confused about how benefits are figured.

Q—My husband is a farmer and draws Social Security. I will be 62 soon, and will draw on his Social Security number. What per cent will I draw at 62 and what per cent would be paid at 65? Which would be to my advantage? Thank you. — W.T.

A—If you wait until age 65, your benefit would be 50 percent of the amount of your husband's benefit. If you collect at 62, that figure would be reduced by 25 percent. If you decide to take the benefit at age 62, you "will be ahead for about 12 years," Social Security people point out.

Note to J.S.P.: You should report your lost Medicare card to your Social Security office. In the meanwhile, if you go to a hospital, be sure to make it known you are enrolled for Medicare benefits.

Note to B.H.: Medicaid (Title 19) benefits are not the same in all states that have approved programs, and there are still some states without approved Title 19 programs.

Note to C.M.: Sixty-fifth birthday Nov. 14? Enroll for Medicare in early August; certainly before Nov. 1, to qualify for Part B benefits, if needed, the month you are 65.

Any family without skeletons in its closet is either lying or un-American. Why do you think that our women, shopping for a new house or a new apartment in big deep closets? Not for their skimpy wardrobes, to be sure, it is for the purpose of hanging skeletons which can sway without rattling their bones against the walls.

We had lovely skeletons on all four sides of our little group. No one ever mentioned old Uncle Charlie, a man of wrinkled brow and dubious intellect, whose post was in front of a funeral home where he was a numbers runner. It wouldn't have been so bad, except that he was not a member of the mob, which threatened to put him inside the funeral home if he didn't stop.

The mayor, who had a piece of the action, sent word to Uncle Charlie that the cops would collar him unless he ceased and desisted at once. Charlie responded that he only took numbers from hard-luck people on their way inside to bid farewell to a stiff. He figured that they were entitled to a change in luck.

Charlie's changed. It became hard. The cops bagged him and he went off to the canary cage where, ironically, he flourished taking numbers from underprivileged prisoners. The women of our family whispered about Uncle Charlie fifteen years before he went feet first inside the funeral home.

We had an Aunt Maude — forgive the alteration of names—who was a closet drinker. She was the only member of our sanctified group who could answer a front door bell and fall head first on the porch. At I might add, ten a. m. She was on a combination of gin and sleeping pills. For her, the harshness of life was reduced to a fuzzy soft focus.

She didn't drink herself to death, exactly. She merely accelerated the process from low gear to high. I kept the empties to make a glass headstone, but the saint in the family voted it down. They referred to Aunt Maude as a poor suffering soul. I have seen her completely bagged, and I say she suffered less than those who prayed for her.

Then there was Cousin Johann, who had a headbolt which lacked a washer. It kept loosening and we had to get a brain mechanic to tighten it one quarter of a turn every now and then or he would go stomping down the middle of the street leading an imaginary parade.

I liked him to the end of his day. He was the only truly intelligent one we had. Johann could communicate better than RCA when he was in the mood. "This," he would intone in the manner of a papal bull, "is a lousy, cruel, selfish world. You may have my share of it. My only pleasure is to go berserk now and then, throwing cups and saucers against the wall and waiting for the guys with the crab nets to come.

"The rest of it, take my word for it, is dull. It comes alive when all your relatives are scared to death and you are the center of attention. It's worth a short vacation in the Happy College," if Johann made heaven, I can tell you that Those People Up There are in a jam.

The other family skeletons didn't even want him in their closet. We had an old man relative — probably the nicest of the tribe — who used to get drunk on his day off and come home in an open funeral barge with a quart of ice cream in his hand. When his wife howled, he held out the ice cream and reminded her that it was melting. "I'll take care of you later," she shouted, and ran off to the kitchen to devour the vanilla.

By the time she was finished, he was sound asleep while I, smiling, of a happy infant. We also had a few who could be referred to as simple, but they were not true skeletons. They spent their time peering from behind lace curtains and hiding in bathrooms when the doorbell or the phone rang.

I too was a skeleton between the ages of 18 and 21 because I had an unhappy affinity for being fired from jobs every three weeks. Once, when I was a milkman, I found that the horse knew more about the storks than I, so I gave him a rather smart kick in the pants and quit. That dairy company has never been quite the same. Neither has that nag.

My skeleton was duly dried and hung in family closets all over New York and New Jersey. My father was a bit more firm: "You," he said, pointing a finger so that my brother Johann would not get a complex, "are a bum." Years later, he became my fan and my skeleton was ordered off coat hangers everywhere.

I miss those skeletons. The new generation are all conformists. Now and then, when I see them, smartly dressed and sipping a single martini, I feel like muttering: "You and your damned education!"

The Readers Speak

Dear Sir:

Who said Rt. 62 (3 lane) north of Warren is dangerous? Only those who have never traveled this highway.

Rt. 62 north of Warren indicates less traffic accidents than any other main highway leaving Warren, according to the map on the wall in the Pennsylvania State Police Barracks. That should be proof enough for safety.

The center lane is reserved for left turns only in the N. Warren area. The chances are few, to be hit head on or slammed into from the rear, with a 4 lane, to make a left turn, you will be sitting on the inside speed area, taking a chance on someone running you down from the rear. There would have to be an immediate exit across two more lanes to get to your destination. Won't that be great?

At the present time, there is a 40 MPH speed limit. With a 4 lane, due to residential and commercial business in the area, I am sure 40 MPH will remain the same. On a 4 lane, the traffic will speed to 50

Dear Sir:

In regard to the photograph of the Youngsville Bypass on the editorial page of Friday's newspaper, the question "Will it remain this way?" can be answered with another question: Do the local officials of the townships through which the new highway passes, desire to have it remain this way? If so, then they can seriously consider adopting zoning regulations to prevent the placement of "unsightly billboards" along the bypass, as it passes through these townships.

As a direct result of prompt zoning action, a sign placed illegally in Conewago Township adjacent to the bypass almost immediately after the bypass was opened, has been removed by the outdoor advertising agency that placed it there.

Now is the time for the citizens of Warren County to take a critical look at the highways MPH regardless of signs or enforcement.

We will need police to help the children across the 4 lane during school hours, same as at the present time.

The school buses operating at 7:30 and 3:30 p.m., 5 days a week, will still stop traffic going either direction during the busiest hours of the day, when stopped to pick up or let off children.

The children of N. Warren must cross the highway to get to their recreation area, which is on the west side of the highway. Can you picture these small children 10-12 years of age, maybe with a dog, even trying to cross this highway by themselves? No! They are crossing the highway at the present time with no problems, thanks to our very safe 3 lane.

Lets keep Warren County safe, and make it safer for the future.

Before the Warren County Planning Commission (dreamers) recommends a new highway to the Penn. Highway Dept., such things as safety, value to the community, will the dollar spent be worth the change, and many other reasons too on which the billboards still remain and compare it with the Youngsville Bypass. Billboards are a blight on the landscape of Warren County and serve no purpose to a modern society.

Communication must be maintained between the motoring public and businesses providing necessary services to the motoring public, but this can be accomplished through a planned controlled regional signing program. If we are going to meet the challenge of preserving the quality environment of our nation and of this county and at the same time satisfy the needs of businesses and of the motorist, then planners and sign people must work together. The climate for this joint effort has never been better.

Sincerely yours,
-s- William R. Rusin
Planning Director

numberous to mention, should be taken in consideration.

With all the roads surrounding Warren today in the inferior condition that they are, it is such a waste of money to spend 2.5 million dollars on a well constructed highway as Rt. 62. Understand, this is only for about three miles.

Every week, we read in the paper about no money available for the Scandia roads. It is hard to understand why this 2.5 million couldn't be transferred to the other roads in the county. We would have plenty of money for our roads if it were used properly.

Could be I am all wrong, What do you think?

Very truly yours,
A safe and thrifty taxpayer

REC LEAGUE ACTION

Sub Shop Takes No. 13

Is number 13 unlucky? The rest of the Recreation Softball League might well hope it is, because that's the number of victories—all without a loss—that Sub Shop has after grinding out a 4-1 win over City Ice and Beverage in Thursday's action.

Penn Highlands won by one, 5-4, over Sheffield Tavern, while Montgomery Wards tapped G. G. Greene, 12-7, and DeVore's Keystone disposed of the Surf Club 12-6 in the other games on the card.

Don Baldensperger's strong pitching arm again got the victory, as he hummed a four-hitter. Skip Armstrong led Sub Shop's hitters with a 2-for-3 night as the winners pounded out two runs in the first inning and added solo tallies in frames four and five. City Ice got in the fourth, by Ed Cummings.

The home-run ball was hopping for both Penn Highlands and Sheffield Tavern, as Jack Barnes poled one for the winners and Sheffield's came from Ken Castor. Sheffield took a brief 4-2 lead after plating a pair of runs in the third inning, but Penn came right back with three more in the top of the fourth to seal the victory.

For Montgomery Wards, Rex Graham did the hurling; but it was at the plate that the Wardsmen really shone, as Herky Smith, Ron Caldwell and Dave Shuttall all went 3-for-3, while Rico Bonavita managed two hits in three trips. Caldwell logged two triples and a double as Ward's scored 11 runs in the first two innings to about wrap up the ball game.

But that wasn't the worst beating cantaloupe clubbers administered to the ball, as Lee Sonderlicker hit two, Denny Valone, Mark Anderson and Jim Monahan belted one homer apiece—and their Surf Club lost! The Keystones

Moody, Coody, McGee? They Lead At Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — U.S. Open Champion Orville Moody and obscure Jerry McGee posted late 67's Thursday and charged into a tie with red-hot Charles Coody for the first-round lead in the $110,000 Cleveland Open Golf Tournament.

All were three-under-par on the 6,061 yard Aurora Country known—George Hixon, Bob Stone, and Cesar Samudo.

A bulky group of 16 were locked at 69, including Charles Sifford, Frank Beard, and Al Balding.

In the dozen at par 70 were defending champion Dave Stockton and Dale Douglass, winner of last week's Kemper Open.

Aside from Moody, the 14-year Army veteran who scored his first four triumph in the National championship, most of the top names in the game had their difficulties in the sweltering heat.

Lee Trevino had a 71, as did leading money winner Gene Littler, Masters Champion George Archer and Jack Nicklaus were at 73 while PGA champ Julius Boros and Arnold Palmer, who had a course record 64 in Wednesday's pro-am, were at 74.

"I simply lost my concentration," said the troubled Palmer. Coody, a 6-foot-7 Texan who had a seven-under par 65 in the last round of last week's Kemper, had been in the clubhouse for hours when Moody and McGee closed in the late afternoon shadows. Moody had to birdie five of the last nine holes to overcome an outgoing 37 and gain his share of the lead. An eight-foot putt on the last hole helped him to the tie.

McGee, who had to qualify for this event and has yet to win, plays out of Lake Worth, Fla., but is a native of the Pennsylvania coal mine country.

He hit his irons with remarkable accuracy. His card showed five birdies—the longest from eight feet—and two bogies.

Coody was much more steady, with four birdies and a single bogie. His birdies came on putts of 25, 14, 14 and 6 feet.

Cubs, Bucs Hit 'em Out

CHICAGO (AP) — Jim Hickman's two-run homer in the 10th inning gave the Chicago Cubs a 7-5 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates in a wild slugfest Thursday.

Bruce Darvill, the fourth Pirate pitcher, had retired the first two men before he walked Ken Rudolph. Hickman then drove his third homer of the season over the left field wall.

In the eighth inning of the homer-spiced game, Roberto Clemente's two-run blast briefly gave the Pirates a 5-3 lead. But in the bottom of the inning, Ron Santo's two-run homer pulled the Cubs into a 5-5 tie.

Willie Stargell and Manny Sanguillen slammed back-to-back solo homers off starter Dick Selma for a 3-1 Pirate lead in the sixth of the windswept contest which produced seven homers in all.

The capacity ladies' day crowd of 40,334, including 29,473 paid, cheered Billy Williams' solohomer in the first and rookie catcher Rudolph's first major league homer, a two-run blast also off starter Dock Ellis.

Stargell's No. 11 homer and Sanguillen's blast, his No. 2, were rifled off Selma into almost the same spot in the left center stands in the sixth.

The victory snapped a four-game losing streak for the Giants.

ATLANTA (AP) — Bill Singer, with ninth-inning relief from Jim Brewer, stopped Atlanta 3-9 Thursday night, pitching the Los Angeles Dodgers back into the National League's West Division lead.

Singer also started a two-run uprising in the third inning with a single and Willie Davis, who drove in one of those runs, hit a solohomer in the sixth. By winning, the Dodgers vaulted ahead of the Braves by one-half game.

Phil's Blank Mets

NEW YORK (AP) — Grant Jackson turned back New York with a four-hitter and Larry Hise scored both runs as the Philadelphia Phillies beat the Mets 2-0 Thursday.

Jackson, 8-6, struck out 10 and walked four as he hurled his eighth complete game. In the second inning, the Mets loaded the bases on two walks and a single, but Jackson got loser Don Cardwell, 2-8, on a pop and struck out Tommie Agee. His only other jam came in the eighth, but he struck out Donn Clendenen with two on.

Cards Lose To Expos

MONTREAL (AP) — Bob Bailey's two-run homer and a bases-empty blast by Jose Laboy in the third inning sparked Montreal to an 8-6 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals Thursday.

Nichols Pounds SOI In City Loop Play

Manager Vic Suppa called in an air strike on the Sons of Italy, and that's what he got. For Nichols Service bombed losing hurler Dean Stewart for 14 runs on 19 hits, as the front running Servicemen extended their grip on first to a full game with this 14-1 shelling in City League play Thursday.

Jim Falvo provided the air support with five RBIs on a combination of two homers and a triple. It was all part of a 4-for-5 night. Another stickler in the RBI department was Pete Molinaro as he cashed in on three.

Almost overshadowed by the hitting spree was the precision pitching of Jim McMeans. In his second appearance in as many nights, McMeans handled the Sons with relatively no trouble. He had a no-hitter going for the first five innings, before John Tassone laced a triple. In finishing up, he had allotted the losers but three hits and a mere three walks.

Joe Font and Tom LeTrent were constant thorns in the side of Stewart. Each had three hits and managed to figure in the scoring.

Nichols opened for three runs in the first, added two in the second; and lowered the boom with a barrage of five hits for six runs in the third. Two more runs were added in the fifth and one in the sixth to put the game into the books.

Whitehead Grabs Stateline-Eriez Lead From Lyle Brown

John Whitehead pulled into the lead in total auto racing circuit points over the weekend, with a third place showing at Stateline.

His effort boosted him 60 points over previous leader, Lyle Brown, Ron Blackmer continues to dominate the overall Sportsman class, despite trailing Jay Plyler by 30 marks at Stateline.

Bob Patch has the Hooligan circuit pretty much under control. His closest contender is 280 points away.

Rozelle, Namath Meet

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Namath still is retired from pro football and Commissioner Pete Rozelle still is waiting for the New York Jets' quarterback to sell his interest in a swinging East Side lounge after Thursday's meeting.

No details of the conversation between the two men were released by Rozelle's office which issued only a terse statement: "Commissioner Rozelle met with Joe Namath this afternoon for a long talk. Nothing was resolved and it is expected they will meet again."

The site of the meeting was not revealed except that it was in New York and not in the commissioner's office.

Namath, who announced June 6 he was quitting football rather than sell out his interest in Bachelors III under threat of suspension, was due to make an appearance in Boston Friday at a football clinic. His plans after that were indefinite but it was reported he would be taking off for California July 1 to make a movie.

Weeb Ewbank, Namath's coach, was present at the meeting that also was attended by James Walsh, one of Namath's attorneys; Dick Schapp, the author who is a personal friend of Namath's, and Jim Kensil of the commissioner's office.

Before the meeting Rozelle had said the outcome of the conference depended on Namath.

"What will come out of the meeting is up to Namath," he said. "If he says he wants to stay retired and keep Bachelors III there's nothing more for me to say. I'd like him to come back and play and I hope he realizes this, I'll try to convince him of it."

Rozelle said Namath had one recourse—appearing with attorneys present which is guaranteed under the pro football constitution.

The fact that further meetings are expected convinced some observers that this was the first move toward a settlement that may require several sessions.

Peggy Wilson Leads Gals' Golf

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Peggy Wilson, a chunky Florida professional with an appetite for the limelight, savored a rare taste of acclaim Thursday as she posted a two-under-par 71 for a one-stroke lead after the first round of the Women's Open Golf Championship.

The 34-year-old former physical education teacher who started golf 11 years ago after she dreamed of the thrill of playing for a huge gallery, hit all but one fairway and four greens in her tour of the tight, tree-lined, par-73 Seaside Hills Country Club course.

Blonde Shirley Englehorn came in with 72, but the sizzling sun took its toll on other big names seeking the $5,000 first prize in this most coveted championship on women's golf. It also shrank the gallery Peggy dreamed about to a tiny knot around the 18th hole.

Defending champion Susie Maxwell Berning and tall Carol Mann, the 1965 champion, soared to 77. Four-time Open queen Mickey Wright, tough little Sandra Haynie and leading money-winner Kathy Whitworth wilted to 76 with amateurs Connie Day and Mrs. Scott Probasco.

Half the field of 69 pros and 30 amateurs zoomed into the 80s.

Area Professionals Compete Today

Professional golfers from four states, including a sizeable portion of the touring pros who missed the cut at the Cleveland Open, will be vying for $1,000 first prize today in the Zippo Invitational at Bradford's Penn Hills Club.

Conewago Valley Country Club's Jack Johnson, and Jackson Valley's Les Rettberg will be among the entrants in the tournament. Spectators are permitted.

After losing three of the first four games the Detroit Tigers won the World Series. Only two other teams won the series that way.

Phils' Boss On Allen: Valley Cops 'Not Very Tradeable' Girls' Tilt

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Owner Bob Carpenter of the Philadelphia Phillies said he has never been more disappointed and will back his general manager and manager in whatever they decide to do with suspended slugger Richie Allen.

Allen failed to show up for a doubleheader with the New York Mets Tuesday at Shea Stadium. Before leaving New York Wednesday morning, Allen told reporters he was through with the Phillies and wanted to be traded.

The 27-year-old first baseman came home to Philadelphia yesterday, but refused to talk with newsmen who descended on his house. He was seen leaving his home about 3 P.M. Wednesday and hasn't been heard from since.

"He's not very tradeable," Carpenter told Sandy Grady, Philadelphia Bulletin columnist. "They'll all wonder now, 'will he show up.'"

"I've never been more disappointed," said Carpenter. "If Allen had been unhappy or in a slump, you might expect something like that. But he's made the transition to first base and I've never seen him hitting better. The fans have given him more cheers than boos. The last time I talked to Allen he seemed happy...

"He's a mystery to me," said Carpenter. "When you're hitting like he was, you'd think he couldn't wait to get to the ball park. It stuns me." Carpenter said, "We've tried everything with Allen. He seems to resent his position with baseball, with the team, with people. With his physical ability he could do so much for people, even beyond baseball. But he's got to accept responsibility. None of us have talked to Allen about what went wrong, but I'll back Bob Skinner (Phillies manager) whatever he and John Quinn (general manager) decide to do."

The Chandler's Valley Charmers bombed the Akeley Angels last night with their heavy artillery and as an end result came up with a 26-7 conquest.

Sharon Aldrich was the winning pitcher for the Charmers, going the entire six innings. Debbie Spicer was the pitcher of record for the Angels, as she also pitched the entire game.

Bey Tutmaier, Mary Falconer and Joe Lynn Beedle all collaborated for doubles off Spicer. Doris Young tripled for the winning cause and Diane Lyons homered.

Debbie Cable and Denise Carlson doubled for Akeley.

CVCC's Myrl Lawson Fires 89 To Take Women's Open Title

A field of 44 ladies participated in the Eighth Annual Warren County Women's Golf tournament, held at the Jackson Valley Country Club yesterday.

Myrl Lawson of the Conewago Valley Country Club fired an eighteen hole total of 89 to seize the championship for low gross scores in the field of entries. Jackson Valley's Jean Loper took the low net trophy with her round of 73.

A sudden death playoff was formulated between Anne Blackman and B. J. Fischer for the low gross in the Championship flight. Anne won the play-off and turned in a scorecard with a reading of 95 for regulation play.

Helen Potter breezed along to take the laurels for the first flight. Helen's 98 topped Jean Loper's and Doris Scallise's 101s. Red Walsh and Jane Jones fired 81s to split honors for the first flight's low net.

Rosann Lucia carded a 105 which was good enough to break on top of the second flight challengers. Rosann's total was six strokes ahead of runners-up Gayle Eittinger and Polly Schmidt. In the same class, Martha Johnson and Dot Vetter compiled 86s to win with low net competition.

Kay Johnson finished up the day's play in the third division with a 127, earning her top billing in the third flight competitors. Johnson was followed by Maryann Sedon from Jackson Valley Country Club.

CVCC RESULTS

Tim Creal and Higgs Schmidt went around the Conewago Valley Country Club front nine in 35s to tie for low honors of the day in the first flight of the CVCC Men's Division, yesterday.

Another tie resulted in the second flight when Bob Phillips and Lloyd Cleveland were in with 41 apiece. Jim Barone copped the third flight with a 40 aggregate, which put him two strokes up on Bob Alexander.

Hans Link bettered Don Conaway's score by one stroke, 42-43, in the fourth flight. Henry Lanman, Howard Ryberg, Dr. Myers and Ken Washington all tied with 48s in the last flight.

In the kickers tourney these men were the lucky winners on 40: Tom Atwell Sr., Tony Lucia, Howard Lauffenberger and Carl Mazzu. The other lucky number was 37 and Bob Phillips, Howard Ryberg, Dr. Guinta, Bill Hill, Pete Juliano, Joe Gobliger, Ted Berdine, Bill Lundahl, Howard Johnson and Ken Washington all had this one.

A party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Youngquist on Saturday, June 14, from 1 to 4 p. m. in honor of their daughter Laurie's fifth birthday. Children who attended were Sheila Flick, Michael Carnahan, Sherri Brooker, Jenny Baker, Pam Brian, Trudy Hellman, Jerry Baker, Susie Maust, Kim Maust, Billy Maust, Denny Youngquist and Tina Lobb. Mrs. Lorraine Youngquist, Mrs. Nancy Carnahan and Mrs. Judy Maust assisted with the children and serving the lunch. Little Miss Laurie was the recipient of many cards and gifts.

Mr. Harold Brown from Buffalo, N. Y., spent a few days last week visiting his sister, Mrs. Linna Knight, and also his nephew, Kenneth Knight and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Smith and daughter Susan have returned to their home in Joliet, Illinois after having spent last week visiting Mrs. Sarah Smith of Clarendon, and Mr. Sherm Dodge of Trueman, while here they made a trip into Canada and visited Niagara Falls, and also motored to Pittsburgh last Tuesday and witnessed the Pirates beat the Cubs in a double header ball game. They were accompanied by Sherm Dodge.

The Robert L. Walker family will be moving to Olean, N. Y. this week. Mr. Walker has received a promotion from the Penn-Central Company, and is now a supervising agent with his office in Olean. He, his wife Beckey and sons Dan and Randy, have been lifelong residents of Clarendon. They will be greatly missed by their many friends here, who all wish them good luck and much happiness in their new home. Randy, 11, was given a farewell slumber party with 14 of his friends present. Dan, 14, was given a farewell party with 32 girls and boys present, and was presented with a polaroid swinger camera. Becky and Bob were honored at a tureen dinner with 30 guests, and were presented with a gift of sheets, pillow cases, and towels.

Dennis Youngquist is spending his vacation at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Youngquist.

Friends of Mrs. Grace Mc-Bride were glad she was able to return to her home after having been a patient in the Warren General Hospital for several days.

Mr. Grant Hector who resides in Armouk, N. Y., is spending some time visiting at the home of his sister, Mr. and Mrs. Mervyn Campbell, and Mr. and Mrs. Philip Freeman and family.

Mr. and Mrs. David Youngquist left Friday morning and drove to Buffalo where they boarded a plane for Albany, and attended the wedding on Saturday, June 21, of Mr. Leonardo Velez and Miss Elaine Hubert. Both Leonardo and Elaine attended St. Mary's School for the Deaf with David. Saturday night they returned by plane to Buffalo and arrived home about midnight.

Mr. and Mrs. George Morrison enjoyed a few days camping trip last week, and over the week end had as their guest Mrs. Herman Huy of Medina, Ohio.

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Rich are their daughter, Mrs. Beverley Wooster and children from Reno, Nevada.

Wrightsville Notes

By DONNA DURLIN

The Wrightsville Cemetery Association will hold their annual meeting Monday evening, June 30 at 8 o'clock at the firehall. All lot owners requested to be present.

The closing program of Vacation Bible School was held Sunday evening, June 22. It was ended sadly by the death of Warnie G. Little. His wife, daughter and grandchildren were to take part in the program. Warnie will be missed by all.

Mrs. Violet Hanner attended the commencement at Panama Central School Monday evening, June 23, of her two granddaughters, Diane M. Smith and Jeanette M. Smith, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Smith of Bear Lake. Open house was held later at the Smith home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Faust recently enjoyed a week's trip to Williamsburg, Va., W. Va., and Penna., other points of interest.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernarr Whiteley attended the funeral service Friday afternoon of Mrs. Whiteley's cousin, Mrs. Marshall (Marian) Fuller of Harbor Creek.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bull accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Max Warner of Sugar Grove to Kinzua Dam Sunday. They enjoyed a picnic dinner there.

State Legion Promotes Safe Holiday Weekend

"Drive Carefully and Be Alive on July 5!"

This is the theme of a Fourth of July traffic safety campaign to be launched in advance of the holiday weekend by the Pennsylvania American Legion.

"Traffic safety is not just a governmental responsibility," State Commander John E. Gilbert, of Fredericksburg, declared today in announcing the statewide safety campaign for which his organization will go all-out to save lives.

"Traffic safety," Commander Gilbert said, "is the responsibility of every citizen, and it is the aim of the Legion to involve the citizens of every community in the state in this effort to curb traffic fatalities and accidents in Pennsylvania."

The campaign, a joint effort with the Pennsylvania Bureau of Traffic Safety, will feature the distribution of 250,000 leaflets bearing the safety appeal in approximately 400 Pennsylvania communities.

Harry H. Brainerd, Pennsylvania's Commissioner of Traffic Safety, in commending the Pennsylvania American Legion for their devoted efforts to help make the state's streets and highways safer, said:

"Such effort, and the efforts of all community organizations to promote traffic safety, will be a major factor in keeping highway fatalities in the Commonwealth to an absolute minimum during the holiday weekend."

Brainerd urged all motorists to cooperate with the Legionnaires.

Elmer Williams, of Pittsburgh, Chairman of the Legion's Traffic Safety Committee, explained that the campaign "is a volunteer American Legion program in which about 6,000 Legionnaires wearing a Legion cap or uniform, will fan out over the Commonwealth to distribute the leaflets at service stations, toll gates along the Pennsylvania Turnpike, highway intersections, shopping centers and at other strategic locations."

Williams said the red, white and blue flyer also bears the safety message, "Defensive Driving Means Happy Arriving" on one side, and "flag etiquette" on the other.

Gilbert and Williams have urged all Legion Posts to participate in a safety program that may "save somebody's life" over the holiday weekend, and have called on Legionnaires distributing the safety literature to recommend that motorists turn on headlights to remind others to drive safely.

The campaign, marking the fifth consecutive year that the American Legion has spearheaded a traffic safety program in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Bureau of Traffic Safety to encourage safe driving practices on Pennsylvania highways during the July Fourth weekend, will be launched the evening of July 3.

Mrs. Delbert Werhne was hostess for the Friendship Club meeting on Friday with ten members and two guests present for the tureen dinner.

A pleasant afternoon was spent. Mrs. Howard Ramsdell, a former member, was a guest. The June 27 meeting will be held with Mrs. Mae Wood.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Moorehouse, Kenelon, N. J., spent the weekend at their summer home here.

The Rev. and Mrs. Charles Alexander and three children will reside in the Moorehouse house during the remainder of the summer.

On Sunday evening a group of men from Farm Colony attended the services at the Faith Bible Church when the Rev. Ray Nelson, pastor of Scandia Covenant Church, brought the message.

On Sunday evening, June 29, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Phillips of Frewsburg will show slides and tell about their trip to Quito, Ecuador, on a visit to their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Woods, who are missionaries there.

Mrs. Flora Atkins spent the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Atkins. Guests at the Spencer and Atkins homes here over the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Ziemer and children of Buffalo.

The Wednesday Circle met at the home of Mrs. Benton Baird with Mrs. Pearl Kohler, cohostess for the tureen dinner at 1 o'clock. Mrs. Richard Enos presided and Mrs. Flora Martin gave the devotion. For the program Mrs. Enos read "Action In Utah" from the Response magazine.

It was voted to give William Hummel $25.00 toward his trip to Alaska. It was voted to give $10 to Mrs. Archie Phillips toward flowers for the church and $5.00 for yarn to Mrs. Ernest Beckwith for articles for the street festival. It was voted to send for more knives and tote bags to sell. The nominating committee presented a slate of officers and these officers were elected: President, Mrs. Richard Enos; Vice President, Mrs. Maynard Dexter; Secretary, Mrs. Helen Lindell; Treasurer, Mrs. Bernice Peterson.

Hostesses for July will be Mrs. Harry Pearson and Mrs. Charles Pearson with Mrs. Carl Andregg giving devotion and Mrs. Dexter in charge of the program. Fifteen members answered roll call with a Bible verse.

To brighten basement stairs, carpet them with deck canvas, an extra-tough cotton fabric available at awning shops or marine supply houses. It comes in 31 to 33-inch widths. Glue canvas down with fabric cement. To give the natural-colored fabric a bright look as well as more durability, paint each step a different eye-catching color.

On Sunday at 7:30 p. m. they will present a program in the church. Following the program, parents may view the crafts which will be displayed in the Parish House, and refreshments will be served.

KINZUA TRAVEL DISCUSSED

Travel investment opportunities in Warren and Forest Counties were discussed at a directors meeting of the Kinzua Dam Vacation Bureau Thursday. Ralph Freeman, center, supervisor of the Allegheny National Forest, and Richard Curtin (r.), Sheffield, KDVB director, are holding the investment prospectus. John Shoup, Marienville, is also a director. (Photo by Mansfield)

County Receives Warrantee Tract Maps of Townships

Cornelius G. Coughlin, regional director of the state Department of Community Affairs, was in Warren Thursday to present to the county warrantee tract maps for seven of the county's 21 townships and copies of the official 1795 map of Warren and its outlots.

Prepared by the Community Affairs' Bureau of Land Records the maps show the original land grants from William Penn, his successors and the Commonwealth. Cost for mapping the county is approximately $120,000 to $140,000 which is paid by the state.

The maps show outlines of the original surveys, of warrantees and dates of warrants, surveys, and patents and the names of patentees and survey and patent book numbers.

They should be of interest to assessors, recorders, county commissioners, attorneys, engineers, surveyors and title searchers, to trace chain of title, fill vacancies on tax and land maps, trace ancestry, run surveys and trace old land lines, Coughlin said.

Copies of the maps are on file in the offices of the recorder of deeds and the county commissioners.

Mapping of 19 counties has been completed and five others including Warren are partially mapped. Work on maps of the rest of the county is currently in progress.

MAPS PRESENTED

Warrantee township tract maps for seven townships in the county were presented Thursday by Cornelius G. Coughlin, regional director of the Department of Community Affairs (seated right). Show at the presentation are Mrs. Helen Chase, secretary of the Warren County

Discusses Junk Car Program

Dale Freeborough, Warren County zoning officer, told Youngsville Kiwanis about the county's junked automobile collection program, at their meeting Tuesday. Not all efforts had been successful, Freeborough said. He named specifically the method of having area residents take discarded vehicles to collection points themselves. The alternatives was to pick up designated vehicles from individual owners, and have them crushed by a Cleveland agency which salvages reusable metal parts for resale to industrial users. Freeborough stressed the importance of owners' cards being surrendered at the time of collection of the old cars.

Youngsville Kiwanis directors will meet July 3 at the Howard Husted home.

Lose License

The Bureau of Traffic Safety, Harrisburg, has released its weekly list of license suspensions and revocations.

Those from Warren County are: Walter L. Jackson, RD 1, Grand Valley, indefinite; Richard L. Jordan, 73 Railroad st., Clarendon, one year from Feb. 28, 1970; James E. Haskins, RD 1, Russell, one year; John R. Wolfe, 342 River rd., two months; Frank E. Knapp, Irvine, and Terrance A. Peterson, 406 Radaker st., Sheffield, 60 days each.

The license of Robert E. McFarland, RD 1, Tionesta, Forest County, was suspended for 60 days.

Wargo Continues to Push Sunday Liquor Measure

HARRISBURG (AP) — The chief sponsor of a Sunday liquor bill defeated in the House this week said Thursday he would accept a local option amendment designed to give the measure added support.

Rep. Joseph G. Wargo, D.

5 Cases Slated For Grand Jury

The cases of five persons arraigned in Warren County Court Thursday will go to the Grand Jury Aug. 4.

Pleading not guilty before Judge Samuel F. Bonavita were John Allenson, Main st., Sugar Grove, charged with unlawful entry; Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Blum, Clarendon, violation of the county zoning ordinance; Gerald G. Lindsey, Star Rt., Saybrook, indecent assault; William Proctor, Pittsfield, furnishing minors with alcohol; and Richard A. Walters, public indecency.

To be sentenced today following guilty pleas entered Thursday are William R. Nelson, 72 Railroad st., Clarendon, driving without a license; and George P. Teonchuk, 1 Hazel st., Box 75, Irvine, three charges involving worthless checks.

Marty Barnes, RD Sugar Grove, and Anthony Bruncz, RD Sugar Grove, both charged with unlawful entry, entered guilty pleas and will be sentenced July 18.

Vonnie Martin, 14½ Prospect st., charged with driving without a license, pleaded guilty and will be sentenced July 17.

Miss Helen Mason Appointed Adult Services Librarian

Miss Helen F. Mason, of Dillsboro, Ind., has been appointed to fill the position of adult services librarian at the Warren Public Library. Library Director Miss Ann Lesser has announced that Miss Mason will assume her duties on July 14. Miss Mason will supervise staff members in the library's adult services department and will coordinate and develop all functions of the department. She will serve as reader's advisor and will be available to assist individuals, groups and group leaders needing or wanting to be well acquainted with the full holdings of the library in particular areas of their interest. She will be able to coordinate all services the library offers its patrons in developing their interests and to acquaint them with methods of fully utilizing all the information available to them.

Miss Mason holds a bachelor of arts degree from Otterbein College, Westerville, Ohio. In May of this year, she was awarded a master of science degree in library science from the University of Kentucky at Lexington.

Dewdrop Opens This Weekend

The Dewdrop Campground on the Kinzua Arm of the Allegheny Reservoir near Cornplanter Bridge is scheduled for opening by the U.S. Forest Service this weekend.

Ralph Freeman, supervisor of the Allegheny National Forest, announced that 63 of 84 campsites will be ready for use. All other roads and facilities including flush toilets, showers and a temporary boat launch should be fully operational. The remaining 21 units are designed for "walk-in" or boat access.

The campsite, situated in a woodland setting, close to Kinzua Beach, Wolf Run Marina and the Tourist Information Center should prove to be one of our more popular recreation areas.

Dewdrop Campground can be reached via F.S. Road 262 which joins Pennsylvania Highway 59 at the south end of Cornplanter Bridge.

Campers will be charged the usual $1 per car entrance fee and $1 per day per campsite. Boaters entering the area to use only the temporary boat launch will not be required to pay any fee.

Barbershoppers In St. Louis

Plummer Collins, President of the Seneca District Barbershoppers, left Monday to attend the 31st annual convention of the 32,000 member Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, held in St. Louis.

Also attending the convention are The Investigators, a quartet made up of Warren's William Crozier, Dave Reynolds, Paul Mahan and Dennis Johnson, who will compete for the 1969 SPEBSQSA Championship.

Collins, who resides at 216 Conewango ave., Warren, will represent the Seneca Land District of the Society in a special seminar for the chief executives of the 15 Society districts.

After the business meetings, the convention will see 44 quartets and 15 choruses from across North America compete in the annual championship barbershop contest.

The final competition for both choruses and quartets will take place Saturday, June 28, in St. Louis' Kiel Auditorium.

Research Group Completes Prospectus on Investment Opportunity in Kinzua Area

The opportunities for total resort development in Warren and Forest counties have been outlined in a prospectus on travel investment prepared for the commonwealth of Pennsylvania by Conway Research Inc., of Atlanta, Georgia.

The first copy of the report was received this week by the Kinzua Dam Vacation Bureau and shown yesterday noon to the KDVB board of directors.

The study indicates six facilities believed to be plausible for this area and worthy of consideration by potential developers and investors. They include:

1) A total resort or resort-second home complex. The concept envisioned here is a large-scale luxury resort offering accommodations for at least 200 guests and providing a full range of recreational facilities on a year around basis.

The study recommends at least 1,000 acres of land for the resort which would be surrounded by vacation homes and/or condominiums.

2) Minimum-cost lodges or lodge cabin developments. This concept would apply to a facility that could expect a high summer occupancy from vacationers and possible high fall occupancy from hunters. This kind of lodge would rely basically on natural attractions (the forest, hunting, fishing) to draw guests rather than costly man-made attractions.

3) Marinas-Flotel. The prospectus points out the need for additional marina facilities on the Allegheny Reservoir and suggests an advanced form of marina development called a "flotel". This is a floating resort complex where the rental accommodations are luxury houseboats. The central marina offers organized recreation and restaurant facilities.

4) Private campgrounds. Because camping is one of the fastest growing forms of outdoor recreation and because it can be the quickest way to start bringing large numbers of people into an area, the Conway report suggests that there are a host of opportunities for additional campgrounds in the Kinzua area, both on private and public property.

5) Ski Lifts. The Conway prospectus makes little mention about the skiing potential in the report because it is felt that other Pennsylvania areas enjoy a competitive advantage in attracting major installations. However, the report says, ski facilities of a limited nature planned in combination with other facilities would appear promising.

6) Special attractions. A scenic railroad on abandoned Penn Central lines could take advantage of current visitors and facilities in the area and help create the "image" of a major recreational area.

The 54-page prospectus will be used by the Kinzua Dam Vacation Bureau and the State Department of Commerce to stimulate investor interest and to obtain objective investor reaction as to how private recreational investment may be implemented.

The report also points out a number of potential sites within Warren and Forest counties which are feasible for development for the proposed facilities and attractions.

In other business at yesterday's KDVB meeting, the directors re-elected the following officers for the 1969-70 fiscal year: President, W. Leroy Schneck; Vice President, Henri LeMeur; Secretary, Catherine Christy; and Treasurer, C. W. Hanson.

The board also adopted an operating budget of $26,478 and made plans to raise the money through a combination of membership support, state, local and county grants.

In planning the activities for the new year, the board is placing special emphasis on travel investment development and will send delegates to the second annual development seminar next month at Snowmass-At-Aspen, Colo.

S. Harry Spackman, chairman of a KDVB special committee, reported on successful efforts to start action toward the employment of a fish biologist at the Kinzua Dam.

At the request of the vacation bureau, Spackman said, Senator Hugh Scott has asked the Department of the Interior to give every consideration to the need for a biologist who would study the effects of power boating, upstream pollution dumping, and temperature changes resulting from reservoir management decisions.

KDVB has also been in contact with Senator Richard Schweiker to obtain his support for the proposal.

Special guests at yesterday's meeting were Honey Schreckengost, secretary of the Seneca Highlands Association in Kane, and William Hawthorne.

MARKING A CENTURY

Sponsors Bill to Form Dept. of Transportation

(TMO Harrisburg Bureau)

HARRISBURG — State Senator Richard C. Frame, of Franklin, whose 25th District includes Warren County, is one of the sponsors of a piece of major legislation now approved by the Senate and sent to the House of Representatives that would establish a new State Department of Transportation.

Under terms of the Frame bill the present State Department of Highways, the State Aeronautics Commission would be transferred to the proposed new department, along with the duties at present of the State Bureau of Motor Vehicles and Traffic Safety, the duties of the State Department of Commerce in regard to high-speed rail demonstration programs, and the duties of the Department of Community Affairs insofar as mass urban transportation is concerned.

Warren County's State Senator pointed out that the new department would have the duty to prepare plans for and coordinate on a continuing basis a comprehensive, efficient and economical transportation system, including rail, air, motor, bus and build highway and air facilities.

Hicks Charged With Stealing Old Money

Robert J. Hicks, 21, RD 3, Jamestown, N. Y., is in Warren County Jail charged with the theft of a collection of old coins and bills from a Spring Creek area man.

The victim was identified as Raymond Hicks, RD 3, Spartansburg, no relation to the man charged.

The alleged burglar broke into the Hicks home and took the money from an upstairs bedroom closet, the Sheriff's department said. The accused man cashed the coins at a bank in Youngsville, the sheriff said.

The money had a face value of $350. Its value as a collector's item was not determined.

The Rev. and Mrs. Ernest Grainger of Barranquilla, Colombia, South America are shown above on the deck of the Grace Lines "S.S. Santa Mercedes" just before they set sail from Port Newark, N. J. bound for four years of missionary work with the Evangelical Union of South American Missionaries. The couple for the past few months visited Mrs. Grainger's sister, Miss Jean Mershon and her aunt, Matilda Steinhoff of 516 East street, Warren, Pa. The photo is courtesy of Grace Lines.

Conecango Valley Country Club was the scene Tuesday afternoon of the annual luncheon for members of the Ladies Golf Association given by Mrs. David Beatty and Mrs. Harold Banghart following the weekly golf tournament. The buffet was planned by Mrs. John L. Blair and Mrs. E. Gail Hamilton. The hostesses awarded special prizes in all divisions. During the luncheon it was announced the golfers will have a mini-breakfast at 8:15 a. m. Tuesday, June 1; a member-member or member-guest tourney July 8 (guests to reside outside of Warren County) and Northwestern tournament July 18. In a drawing, Mrs. William Fuchler, Mrs. Thomas Fisher and Mrs. A. J. Lucia won the honor of playing next week's match with Jack Johnson, CVCC pro.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Mason, 20 Timothy avenue, North Warren, have returned from Clearwater, Fla. after attending the wedding of their daughter, Shirley, to Mr. William Jackson of Clearwater, son of Mrs. Eva Jackson, Mason's Mobile City, Warren. They were accompanied home by Mr. Mason's niece, Mrs. Leona Hayes, Houston, Texas, who flew to Clearwater for the wedding. They were also accompanied by Mrs. Margaret (Peg) Mason, a former Warren resident. This was an extra special occasion for the Masons since they had not seen their niece in 40 years.

United In Marriage

United Presbyterian Church of North Warren was the scene at 1:30 p.m., Saturday, June 21, 1969 of the open church wedding of Charlotte Elisabeth Loper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Loper, 115 Church street, North Warren, Pa., and Tommy Harold Strickland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Strickland, 356 East Main street, Youngsville, Pa.

The Rev. Nelson Beck performed the double ring ceremony in the presence of 250 guests before an altar decorated with twin pedestal vases of white gladioli and pompon mums. The lecterns were accented with pink carnations and a seven branch candelabra flanked the altar. Organ music was provided by Mrs. Marna Lewis.

The bride, escorted by her father, wore a gown of pure silk white organza over taffeta. Reembroidered Alencon lace was applied to the molded bodice and cascaded down the sides of the floor length skirt defining the A-shilhouette. Scalloped lace circled the brief sleeves on the empire bodice fashioned with a bateau neckline. Garlands of lace outlined the graceful court train which swept from the shoulders to chapel length.

Her shoulder length mantilla was trimmed with Alencon lace and she carried a colonial bouquet of white roses and white carnations accented with pink roses and white ribbon streamers. She also carried a white lace handkerchief belonging to her maternal grandmother which had been carried by members of the bride's family.

Mrs. Richard C. Schappert, the bride's sister from Falls Church, Va., was matron of honor and was attired in a floor length A-line gown of pink dotted swiss over taffeta. Flowered braid formed the empire line on the puffed sleeve bodice and a small satin bow topped the gathered fullness. Her headress was a matching satin Dior bow with butterfly veil and she carried a colonial bouquet of light pink roses.

Miss Shirley Stevenson of North Warren, gowned identically to the honor attendant, was bridesmaid.

Douglas N. Anthony of Baltimore, Md., served as his cousin's best man and Jeffery A. Strickland, the bridegroom's brother, was groomsmen. Ushers were Eugene Bryan of Warren and the bride's brother-in-law, Richard Schappert, Falls Church, Va.

The bride's mother wore an aqua silk skimmer style sheath with matching coat. Venice lace accented the coat and cowl collar of the dress and she chose matching accessories, aqua ribbon hat and pink rose corsage. The bridegroom's mother appeared in a yellow silk sheath with matching lace coat, matching accessories and yellow rose corsage.

Grandmothers present, Mrs. Cloyd Rea and Mrs. Walter Brown were favored with a red rose and pink rose corsage respectively.

The wedding reception was held in Fellowship Hall of the church where a four tier cake in white with touches of pink was flanked by double silver candelabra and the bridesmaid's bouquets.

Aides were Mrs. David Kent, Mrs. Terry Rohlin, Mrs. Alan Prus, Mrs. Marvin Loper, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. John Reddick.

For a northern honeymoon trip the new Mrs. Strickland wore a navy linen skimmer with white accessories and pink rose corsage.

The couple will make their home at 100 Main avenue, Warren.

The bride is a 1966 graduate of Warren Area High School, a 1968 graduate of Art Institute of Pittsburgh, School of Design and is presently employed at Levinson Brothers as an interior decorator.

The bridegroom is a 1965 graduate of Youngsville High School and a 1967 graduate of Educational Institute of Pittsburgh. He is employed as a draftsman at Thomas Coupling Division of Rex Chainbelt in Warren.

Pre-nuptial affairs were given by Mrs. Bud Guffree and Mrs. Alan Prus; Mrs. John Stevenson and Miss Shirley Stevenson of North Warren and Mrs. Eugene Bryan of Warren.

The rehearsal dinner was given at Penn Laurel by the bridegroom's parents and the bridesmaids' luncheon at the Ironstone in Jamestown, N.Y.

Was Wed In French Creek

Margaret Brunecz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Brunecz of French Creek, N.Y., and Roger E. Chelton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Chelton of Corry, were united in marriage at 11 a.m., Saturday, June 21, 1969 in French Creek. The Rev. Edward Synowick, pastor of St. Matthias R. C. Church, celebrated the nuptial mass and performed the double ring ceremony.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of organza with peau d'ange scalloped lace neckline, short sleeves and easy A-line skirt with pearly lace appliques. Her chapel length mantilla was edged in matching peau d'ange lace with appliques scattered on the illusion and she carried a cascade of cymbidium orchids with Stephanotis and ivy.

Donna Fredenberg, a cousin of the bride, was maid of honor and was attired in various shades of rose nylon chiffon and taffeta with matching circular headpiece. Phyllis and Pauline Chelton, sisters of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids and were dressed the same as the honor attendant. Brenda Chelton, also identically attired was flower girl and the bride's nephew, Thomas Lepkowski was ringbearer.

Martin DeWitt of Corry served as best man and ushers were Jerry Cobb, Corry; Jamie Miller, Spartansburg and John A. Brunecz of Sugar Grove, Pa.

The wedding reception for 200 guests was held in Bernards Hall in French Creek with Miss Susan Wassink serving as aide.

Following a wedding trip to Niagara Falls and Canada, the couple will reside at 215 Park avenue, Corry.

Hints From Heloise

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: My nephew came home one day from school and when he took off his shoes, he discovered a big hole in his brand new socks.

After turning his shoe over and looking inside and out, he turned to his mother and asked where in the world could that piece of sock have gone?

A Reader

DEAR HELOISE: Last week when I was home sick, I decided I wanted to do something.

I thought it would be just great to put a puzzle together, but I couldn't find a table that I could put in bed with me. Then I spotted my sister's chalkboard. Turned it over to the part that you don't write on and used that side.

It makes a perfect table to put on because you can tilt the board and the puzzle will stay in place.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: We adore our four grandchildren. My husband is completely devoted to them, especially the two little boys. Grandpa has been like a father to them. Their mother considers it a blessing since their own father was never very attentive to his young family.

Now that the children are getting more articulate it is apparent that they love Grandpa very much. Their own father has decided this love is "unhealthy" because Grandpa is getting old (he's 60) and he may die one of these days. According to their father, the children will suffer severe emotional trauma unless they diminish contact with the old gentleman. He wants to "spare them" by limiting Grandpa's visits to once every ten days.

Is our son-in-law right? If you say so we will accept their decision. — Sad

DEAR SAD: You must accept their decision no matter WHAT I say. The wishes of the parents must prevail, not those of the grandparents or of Ann Landers.

If it's my opinion you want, here it is: The love children get from a Grandpa is a special kind of love. Their father should be grateful for it. I suspect your son-in-law resents the affection his children feel for Gramps. How unfortunate that he views Gramps as competition instead of an added dimension in the lives of his youngsters.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I have been married 21 years. We have a wide circle of friends and have done a good job of raising three splendid children. I would say our marriage is better than most.

About four months ago I received three telephone calls from friends who wanted me to know they were so sorry to hear that Fred and I are getting a divorce. Fred received two such calls at his place of business. Neither of us can figure out who started the story.

Yesterday I received another such call. Apparently the rumor has started again. Is there any way we can trace these completely false stories? Why start them? Why? — Wonderment

DEAR WON: Don't waste your time and energy trying to track down rumors. It's futile, unrewarding, frustrating and pointless.

Who starts them? It could be anybody. Why? Envy probably.

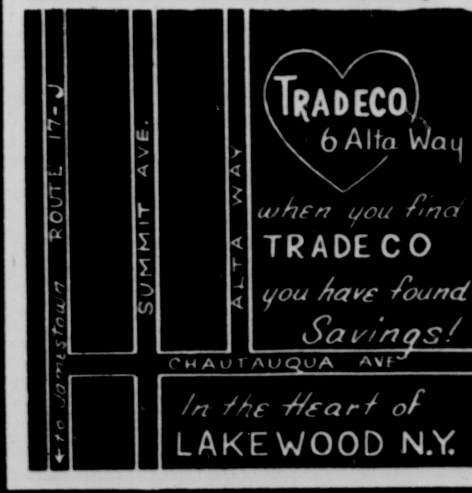

DEAR ANN: Those parents who allowed their 15-year-old son to entertain his girl friend in his bedroom for three hours before dinner (with the door closed) and then allowed them to return to the bedroom after dinner, must be nuts.

Don't parents realize that today a 14-year-old kid knows more about sex than his parents knew at 20? When my brother was 16 he explained to Mom and Dad what homosexuals were and how they got that way. They were SHOCKED.

Tell parents to get with it, Ann. Last year two of my girl friends had abortions in Europe and one nearly died because she tried to abort herself. They were all 14 and from so-called "better families." — D. Troit

DEAR TROIT: I don't need to tell 'em. You did. But good. Thanks.

A well delivered performance in both bidding and play led to a tidy profit for North and South in today's deal.

The South hand is worth 25 points including high cards and distribution, and the he is perhaps a shade shy in playing strength of the requirements for a demand bid, his holding contains too many high cards to risk a mere one bid which may easily be passed out.

North raised South to three hearts in order to fix the trump suit. When South showed a second suit by bidding four clubs, North cue bid the ace of diamonds—implying an interest in slam. Observe that if he were content to settle for a mere game, he would have returned to four hearts.

South was obliged to sign off since he had already told his full story. However, when North made another try by overbidding the game, South reconsidered and proceeded to slam. His points were all gilt-edged and the hands appeared to fit well.

West opened the jack of diamonds which was permitted to hold the trick as East signaled encouragement with the eight. The ace was put up from dummy on the continuation and a small diamond was then ruffed with the nine of hearts.

The ace and king of trumps were cashed as both opponents followed suit. The North hand was reentered next with the queen of clubs to ruff out the remaining diamond with the queen of hearts.

A club was ruffed in dummy and the jack of hearts pulled the last trump as South discarded the jack of spades. Declarer's ace-king of spades and ace-king of clubs took the last four tricks.

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars, FOR FRIDAY, JUNE 27, 1969.

ARIES (March 21 to April 20) — Ask, if in doubt, but do not become unsettled at every sign of complexity. In general, hold the line against wavering and lack of confidence. Display your talents.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21) — Fine Venus Influences encourage the best use of your talents now. Don't abandon new projects without giving them fair trial. There is more room at the top than you may believe.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21) — You may have an unusual opportunity to advance your interests immediately — one which could have an important bearing on your future as well. Be ready to accept.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23) — This is no time for dwelling on old errors, except to recognize that they must not be repeated. On with your present program — especially if it's been built on a solid foundation and is the result of progressive ideas.

LEO (July 24 to August 23) — Do not lower your dignity by using strong-arm or other forceful measures to achieve success. You will accomplish more through calmness, serenity.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23) — A new goal in mind? Stop to ascertain first what is really required, then note how and where to achieve it. A consultation with knowledgeable heads could help.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23) — Why not step out in more venturesome manner if you have the facts and your intuition tells you that the time is ripe? If not reckless, you might walk right into a wonderful new opportunity.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 22) — A chance now to see things in quiet perspective. Stand back to look things over — but only those concerned with the present; forget the past.

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21) — Your Jupiter highly auspicious! Day spells action, determination, aggressiveness. Rouse yourself to that added effort which brings such sweet compensation.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20) — Crush any inclination to postpone things. As with Sagittarius, NOW is the time for action. Strike while the time is propitious and the opposition is off balance. In your eagerness, however, don't swerve off on a tangent — it could cause delay.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19) — Direct your very effective energies down a worthwhile road. You can be adroit, resourceful, a winner in any competition, when you will, will it NOW!

PISCES (February 20 to March 20) — Keep ideas fresh and sparkling, as the Piscean so well can. Your goal now should be to capture the attention of those in a position to further your aims, so polish up your wares — and your personality!

YOU BORN TODAY love tradition, family heritage, home surroundings and family more possessively than those born under any other Sign. Grant the latter more freedom of thought and expression, and your life with them will be much richer. You are tremendously interested in every aspect of life and people, and are an interesting conversationalist; are a strict but kind tutor, a true friend. As a doctor or nurse you could excel, and have almost inexhaustible patience with those under your care. Because you are always anxious to please, you are sometimes misled through your sympathies. Try to be more realistic or many will take advantage of you. Birthdate of: Lafcadio Hearn, noted author.

How to Keep Well

TRAVEL TIPS

An ideal vacation provides a restful period away from the daily grind of business obligations and household chores. To some people, this means a weekend jaunt or two weeks at a resort whereas others prefer to tour the country. Well-spent holidays recharge the batteries. Many people, however, return home in a state of collapse and need a week to recuperate from the vacation.

Marathon-like schedules certainly do not promote relaxation and may do more harm than good. Those who insist on tooling along at breakneck speeds would get more rest if they spent two weeks on the back porch or patio. Many tourists cannot resist a "See Skunk Gulch" sign without taking the invitation literally. So what, if the 40-mile detour means driving late into the night?

Once the family chooses between the seashore and the Grand Canyon, they should make a few plans. Letting things slide until the last minute creates feelings of panic. Not having the car thoroughly checked is a gilt-edged invitation to trouble. Mechanical failures not only fray the nerves and the budget, but may result in serious injuries.

Get down items used daily. For example, if you can't see two feet ahead without glasses, bring along a spare. Include medications that are taken regularly and order refills if necessary. Comfortable walking shoes and clothing are a must. Nature's most impressive setting is hardly enjoyable when the feet hurt.

Traveling with children need not be a chore if a few rules are followed. Feed the brood early and stop often to let them stretch their legs. Coloring books or games ward off boredom. Nostalgic snacks such as raisins, dried fruits, or apples stem the tide of starvation. (Our leaflet on this subject offers useful suggestions along this line and may be obtained by sending stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.)

TOMORROW: Signs of Diabetes.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if accompanied by stamped, self-addressed envelope.

FIBROIDS EXPLAINED

P. C. writes: Would you please discuss fibroids of the uterus? My doctor recently told me I had a fibroid but he did not explain the nature of such growths. Can they become malignant? I am told that many women have these and the information should be helpful to all of us.

REPLY

A fibroid is a tumor that involves the wall of the uterus. They never become cancerous but may cause symptoms such as bleeding. Large fibroids are best treated via surgery.

CYCLING AWAY CRAMPS

A reader writes: Recently my husband has been troubled with leg cramps at night. Do you think bicycle riding might help him?

REPLY

Cycling is worth a trial. Have him ride for two weeks, but suggest that he limit the activity to an hour each day. Is he taking diuretic medication? Quinine tablets may help if exercise fails to relieve the cramping.

Midway Park Plans Fireworks

MAPLE SPRINGS, N. Y. — Plans are complete at Midway Park, popular family fun spot on Chautauqua Lake, for observance of the Fourth of July. A highlight this year — as in the past — will be a gigantic fireworks display as a grand finale salute to Independence Day. The display, long recognized as one of the most complete in the area, will begin after dark — probably about 10 p. m., Frank Walsh, park activities director, said.

Walsh pointed out that the pyrotechnics are arranged professionally for maximum impact and effectiveness as children and grownups alike are awed by the breathtaking combination of sound and colors.

The park will be open all day on the Fourth as the kickoff to the three-day weekend. Features of the long-established lakefront playground are its new giant slide along with a variety of other rides and attractions for young and old. Included are picnic, athletic and refreshment facilities.

As in past years, family groups are expected to comprise a major portion of those at the park for the gala occasion. Walsh said some families have made it a tradition to hold picnics and reunions at Midway on the Fourth for as long as the past half century. "This long established pattern is expected to be repeated this year," the activities director said.

MOBILE PULPIT
SUTTON-IN-ASHFIELD, England (AP) — A local churchman, Arthur Quincey, has built a mobile pulpit and is offering the design to any clergymen who have difficulty in bridging the gap between themselves and small congregations in large churches where pulpits are a long way from the pews. It cost less than 15 dollars and can be made in under 10 hours, Quincey says. The mobile pulpit just hooks on the pews that are nearest to the congregation.

Tidioute Area Citizens
Have the Right to Know

By LOIS MCCLOSKEY

The people in this area who are paying to maintain the Tidioute Public Utility (Water Company) and those soon to be levied with a monthly sewer rental fee based on the monthly water rate, have the right to know through this reporter, that the hour for the joint meeting of the Southwest Warren County Municipal Authority and the Borough Council, scheduled for 7:30 p.m. on Monday night, June 16 was changed to 6:30 p.m. None of the 13 local men there who represented both council and the Authority took the time to notify us of the change. Also present at the meeting was Leon Langford, engineer for Chester Engineers and engineer for the borough and the Authority.

When we arrived at 7:20 p.m. all but one chair was filled but no one was sitting at the meeting table which should at least have been the chairman of the Authority; Leon Langford and council president Fred Barr, only Miss Ellen Morrison, serving as secretary in the absence of Williams Karns Authority and Council secretary was at the table.

Evidently the subject being discussed was the problem being encountered with further work on the well which has recently been drilled in Limestone Township to relieve the water shortage problem there.

According to the reports at the last Monday Council meeting, the problem now presenting the Authority and council as well, is getting a right of way to the well to lay a temporary electric line and setting up equipment for pumping the well and determining its capacity and get samples for analysis.

At such a spread out assembly it was difficult to tell who was speaking, but the first words we heard were: "Merkle wants no electric lines near his house." Then George Atkin Jr. Authority chairman said at 7:35, "I have to leave now for another meeting." He did not even take the time to ask Authority vice chairman James Jamison to take over the meeting.

Meanwhile Langford took over and stated that those in authority at the well set up "should go ahead, flow the well, check it for draw down, capacity, and take samples for analyses and to check after pumping for 12 to 18 hours."

George Morrison, manager for the Public Utility system said that if the well proved out there should be enough water to keep out of trouble in Limestone Township for a number of years and posed the question, "If the money has to first come from water company funds, could it then be refunded from a loan?" But added that if the well doesn't prove out, the Water Company will be stuck with the electric bill for the pumping.

Since no one seemed to be replacing Atkin, Langford asked, "Who is now in charge of this meeting?" Jamison then said he guessed he was, and asked "What action is now necessary? . . . There should be some authorization given by Council for drilling the well and the money must come from the Water Company. . . the well is now down, what authorization is needed now?"

Morrison said that the pump now going in, is bigger than needed permanently and that the capacity now being bailed out is from 15 to 20 gallons a minute. An Authority member then stated that the borough would have to foot the bill or cost until the well proves out. When asked if the well drilling and pipe are paid for by borough, then can it be reimbursed from the general fund, Langford said it could not be done. At this point, the Authority said it thought it was through with its business of the evening and that further action would have to come from borough council.

At 7:50 p.m. president Barr called a special council session. The only action taken was a motion that, "It interpreted the discussion of the Authority to authorize Morrison to proceed with the well." This motion passed but there was no further instruction as to how he was to proceed with the many problems with which he is now faced.

Of the three items scheduled in Atkin's letter presented at last Monday meeting of Council the only one mentioned while we were present was a part of item (3) "Prepare a 1968 Engineer's report with all necessary recommendations for system improvements and or a review of the adequacy of the present water rate schedule for the purpose."

There was a brief mention of the water rate schedule. A council member asked if it would be possible to raise the water rate 25 per cent in Limestone township if the present well proves out and perhaps a lower raise in the Tidioute borough water rate. The subject died for lack of further discussion or action.

This we think would be heaping insult to injury for Limestone township after listening to the pleas of residents there at council meetings for just enough water to wash your hands or run a kitchen faucet and brush your teeth in the bathroom at the same time. It is our opinion that Limestone has paid for service not rendered for years. . . why not let them enjoy the service we get in the borough for the same monthly charge they have been paying for lack of water.

It is the job of a reporter to attend both council and authority meetings and to date we have missed but one council meeting in all of the years we have been reporting for this paper.

For some time, the Authority did not hold regularly scheduled meetings but after Authority Chairman Atkin stated some months ago, in one of his letters to the editor, that he felt we were misinformed since we were not attending Authority meetings. We have tried to attend all of them since then.

However, in May at the scheduled meeting time on Wed, May 14 we waited for half an hour and only two members showed up so a meeting could not be held. The June 11 meeting was held on the same night as Commencement so it was impossible to attend.

From the Mon. June 23 fiasco we could draw several conclusions none of which are happy ones.

1. The hour could have been moved up to 6:30 instead of 7:30 p.m. to avoid having any interested and concerned persons attend.

2. It could have been moved up so that it would be impossible for us to cover it and do a report which you should know about.

3. It could have been necessary to change the hour due to a commitment of the Authority chairman in Titusville. But when one reads in his letter: It is recommended that a joint special meeting of Council and the Authority be held the night of June 23, 1969 with Mr. Langford and Mr. Swanson in attendance so all matters of interest can be discussed and certain necessary decisions made," we still feel that the Authority chairman was negligent in his duty as chairman in not notifying the press of his change in plans. (We were unable to find out from anyone present why this was not done.)

Class Plans Bakeless Bake Sale

The Mary Margaret Sunday School class of the First Methodist Church met at the home of Mrs. Calvin Montgomery Sr., on June 18, with seven members present.

Mrs. Hugh Storer, new president, had charge of the meeting with Mrs. Charles Ulf using an article, "Companionship with Trees," as the theme for devotions.

New Grandson

James Allen Bush was born on June 20 weighing eight pounds, to Mrs. Fay Irene (Ballantyne) Bush and James Arden Bush, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bush of 315 Main st., at Independence, Missouri.

Mrs. Bush is a native of Independence. This is the first child in eight years of marriage. The father is known locally as Arden Bush.

Church to Host Visiting Choir

The Junior choir of the Burnham, Pa., United Presbyterian Church will give selections at the Sunday morning service of the United Presbyterian Church at 11 a.m.

Prior to singing here, the choir will sing at the Irvine United Presbyterian Church at its Sunday morning services where the group will be breakfast guests of the congregation.

Following morning service in Tidioute it will be luncheon guests of the Tidioute congregation.

The Rev. Robert L. Zorn is pastor for both the Irvine and Tidioute churches and was the former pastor of the Burnham church prior to accepting the charge in this area.

Bantam League Results Listed

The Bantam Little Leaguers of Shanley's Red and White chalked up its fifth win against McChesney Lumber on Monday, June 23, with a total of 65 to 11 runs with John Weaver and Andy Sveda taking turns as pitcher and catcher.

On Thursday, June 19 they played Warren National Bank of Youngsville there and entered a total score of 8-7 in its book, with Sveda pitching and Weaver catching.

They clashed with the McChesney Lumber Co. team of Pittsfield on the home field on Monday, June 23 with a score of 3-0 with Weaver on the mound and Sveda catching. Weaver scored 17 strikeouts.

Miller's Cafe will have a second go-round with this team on Monday, July 6 on the home field. His enthusiastic coaches are Harvey (Bill) Weaver and Ronnie Weller.

SANDRA YUCHA
Sandra Yucha
Named Exchange Student

Sandra Yucha, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Yucha of 13 Scott st., has been chosen as Tidioute High School Exchange student. She will leave from Buffalo, N. Y., by plane on Sunday June 29 for Bogota, Columbia, South America, where she will be taking special lessons in languages and culture until the last of August, since the regular school term there coincides with ours.

Sandra will be living with the David Sullivan family who has already had five other exchange students as their guests. Mr. Sullivan is an engineer. With her and his wife are living the oldest daughter and husband who is a doctor and their one and one-half year old daughter. The second daughter is 20, then twin boys of 18, a daughter 12, and one of 10.

The selection of an exchange student is based on the scholarship, character and family of the recipient and the writing of a 200 word essay. Sandra, who is 17 years old and a senior next fall, is the third exchange student chosen from Tidioute High. Former students have been Edward Ziegler and Barbara Cook.

Sandra's summer address will be: care of David Sullivan, Diagonal 582457, Bogota, Columbia, S. A.

Trees and Shrubs Provide
Topic for Garden Club

The Tidioute Garden Club held an open meeting on Tuesday June 24, so that the general public could learn about the general care of trees and shrubs for the home grounds.

Blaine Schlosser, Resource Development agent for The Pennsylvania State University located in Crawford County was the guest speaker introduced by Bernie Wingert, Warren County Agricultural Extension agent.

Both Wingert and Schlosser recently attended a training school at Penn State on this subject and Schlosser had a set of colored slides made for Crawford County and these he used in his illustrated talk.

Schlosser, who is no stranger in Warren County since he recently spent two years in the Extension office here, stressed the proper planting and care of trees and shrubs to realize their full value to the home grounds. But, he said, maintenance is of little help if they are not properly selected, and suitable for this area. Here trees and shrubs must be hardy to withstand our rugged winters.

Although acid plants need special care for good growth, this is not as much a problem here where we have acid soil in many places, as it is in areas where the soil must be treated for acid-loving shrubbery to flourish.

Soil testing is of utmost importance for determining the need for fertilizing and this can be done at the county Extension office.

To properly plant a tree the hole must be of sufficient size and depth to accommodate the root system without crowding. The planting depth should equal that of the tree when it was selected at a nursery.

A tree should always be pruned before it is planted, removing about one fourth of the twigs in order to balance the top and root growth. After planting it should be well watered for the first year and should be staked and wired to keep it from weaving.

The proper method of applying various mulches and those that are readily available were listed as: peat moss, cocoa bean shells, peanut hulls, wood shavings and chips, well rotted sawdust; also pea gravel, stone chips and white marble. When using any of these last three, it was suggested that the ground be first covered with black plastic to eliminate weed growth.

Proper pruning and thinning back or heading back should be used instead of shearing, on all but hedges. Any branch over three-fourths inch which is removed should have the cut painted to protect it but do not use a paint that contains turpentine as it injures the wood growth.

Schlosser completed his talk with a series of colored slides of all types of ornamental trees, most of which bloom and many have berries or fruits in the fall. One of the newest and most popular and spectacular is the ornamental Bradford pear tree which is frequently used as a street tree since it blooms, bears small pears and the leaves turn color in the fall. It grows to about 50 feet and at present costs around $50 for a half-inch caliper tree. Some are available in both Warren and Butler county.

At the business meeting Mrs. Harriette Courson gave the inspirational reading, "What is so Rare as a day in June?" Lester Noll, chairman of Civic Beautification reported that he and Herbert Bush had planted mardigras in the memorial plots near the bridge.

Mrs. Edward Shanley, chairman of the fall flower show reported on her recent meeting with the P. T. A., which is jointly sponsoring the Fall Show titled "School Days" to be held in the school cafeteria on Tuesday, September 23, from 3 to 9 p.m.

The Junior activities committee consisting of Mrs. Shanley, Mrs. James King, Mrs. Robert Zorn and Mrs. John Christy have already completed the schedule and classification and all committees have been announced for the show.

Arrangements for various locations during the show to be composed by the Adult club are to depict song titles to carry out the general theme of the show.

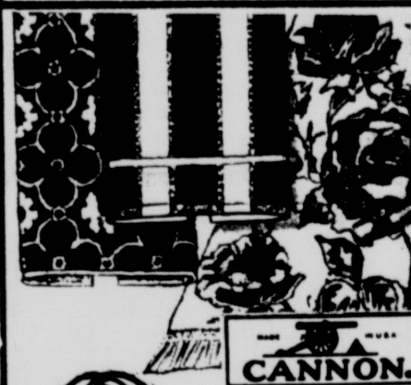

Besides the general fund handled by treasurer Lisle Peters are a memorial fund for deceased members or relatives and a civic beautification fund. In the past it has been the policy to purchase library books with the memorial fund, but a motion was made at the Tuesday meeting to place $10 of the memorial fund in the civic beautification fund to be used as memorials for a deceased member and the mother of another member.

Hosts for the evening were Mrs. Harriet Courson, Mrs. Jessie Thomas, and Mrs. Ethel Courson. The July 29 meeting will be a picnic at the Overlook

NO WATER, HEAVY CASUALTIES, POOR SUPPORT

'Forgotten Men of Ben Het' Are Sick of Their Role

BEN HET, Vietnam (AP) — They call themselves "the forgotten men of Ben Het."

They are grimy, unshaven, angry.

They are the Americans who man artillery pieces on a muddy knoll called North Hill at the Ben Het Special Forces Camp in the central highlands.

Victims of a logistics foulup that compares with the worst days of the sieges of Khe Sanh and Con Thien in the north, the artillerymen from the U.S. Army's A Battery, 3rd Battalion, 6th Artillery made it clear Thursday they were sick of their assigned role.

"Someone said we were part of an experiment to see if the South Vietnamese can hold their own against the North Vietnamese," one of the Americans said. "Well, this experiment has gone on too long. We're sick and tired of it."

The reasons for the artillerymen's anger were obvious.

They have been out of fresh water for the past five days. Six thirsting casualties, wounded Thursday in a brief barrage of enemy mortar fire, were served warm soda. The only water available was the cordite-flavored dusty liquid the men catch in their ponchos under the monsoon downpours.

Casualties in the battery have passed the 100 per cent mark in the past two weeks, leaving the unit at times at only half-strength because of the slow dribble of replacements. Thursday's casualties further worsened the situation.

Engineer and other support for the embattled battery that clings to the slippery knoll like rabbits "is nonexistent, it's a scandal," said one artilleryman.

This means the men are living in poorly built, decrepit, dangerous bunkers capable, they say, of withstanding at the most a hit from an 82mm mortar. The enemy has two larger weapons in their arsenal: the 120mm mortar and the 85mm gun.

Ammunition resupply is moving in so slowly that the battery fires each day three times more rounds than it gets in.

"This could become dangerous if it keeps up, particularly if the other side plans a major attack," an officer said.

The battery members not only have to fire the guns; they have to defend their tiny perimeter themselves, assisted by 15 Cambodian-born civilian irregular troops.

"If we were attached to a U.S.

unit we would have at least two infantry platoons giving us security, and probably a whole company," one artilleryman said.

"One night eight sappers penetrated our perimeter, zapped No. 2 gun with a satchel charge killing one of the seven gunners and wounding five. We have killed two sappers in each of the past three nights. They all got in our wire."

The artillery position is separated from the main camp installation by a small valley. The artillerymen will be on their own if the North Vietnamese try to come through the wire in strength.

Morale is deteriorating because of all these factors, artillery officers say, one adding: "Nothing changes. It just gets worse up here."

Many of the artillerymen's troubles are part of the over-all problem that besets Ben Het. The North Vietnamese are believed to have two regiments of infantry around the camp, plus a regiment of artillery.

The South Vietnamese forces thrown into the battle are suffering heavy casualties, as high as 50 per cent, said one senior American source.

There is little effort being made on the ground to sweep away the North Vietnamese creeping to within 300 yards of the camp perimeter in broad daylight and firing mortars and sniping with rifles.

Because the whole action is seen by the U.S. Command as a test of the South Vietnamese ability to fight the North Vietnamese, there is a reluctance to interfere.

The artillerymen feel they are being sacrificed in an experiment which, from the Ben Het viewpoint, seems to be failing.

"The Vietnamese seem to have priority on the trucks that sometimes sneak up the road with supplies," said one officer. "They probably have priority on everything, seeing they are running things. We are left out of it, the forgotten men."

Despite the myriad problems, A Battery fights on at North Hill.

"If we weren't here to help the defense there would be nothing left of Ben Het," said the battery commander, Capt. John Horalek of Fort Collins, Colo. "We've been hit hard, but we are doing our job."

As Horalek was speaking, a flurry of incoming mortar rounds fell among his six self-propelled 105mm guns. A hoarse cry of "medic" was shouted, and soon a straggly line of men peppered with shreds of metal staggered or were carried into a bunker that serves as the first aid station.

Under the light of a candle augmented by occasional flickers from a generator-driven lamp, Horalek and the medics worked over the wounded, praying that the medical evacuation helicopters wouldn't be too long this time.

A medic, Spec. 4 Harold Sparlan of Joplin, Mo., worked quietly over a Negro with a piece of steel in his eye. Sparlan had watched men die on other days as he waited for the incoming artillery barrages to lift so helicopters could come in.

He has achieved miracles in medicine in this dark little cubby hole that serves as the aid station, other artillerymen said. The enemy shells keep on crashing in, but A Battery sends out its own sudden death, 40,000 rounds in the six weeks it has been based at Ben Het. Horalek proudly claims an enemy kill of 240, verified by spotter planes and ground troops.

The artillerymen fight on because they are convinced, among other things, that the North Vietnamese intend to try to take them prisoner.

"They'll never get me," said one young artilleryman, patting the snout of his gun.
